MURDER OVER HAND OF GIRL.

Foreigner Murdered at Sutererville and Placed on Railroad Track—Five Countrymen Under Arrest.

Special to The Courier.

SUTERVILLE, Oct. 12.—The body of Mike Gonda, a Slav miner, aged 22 and unmarried, was found Saturday night by a freight crew along the Baltimore & Ohio railroad near here. When picked up the Slav's head was found to be laid open by a terrible gash as if struck by a train. He was dead. Another man was seen lying nearby in the ditch by the freight crew. He was asked if he was hurt and in a surly tone he replied that it was none of their business. After placing the dead man in the caboose, the crew returned for the other man. He was missing. Foul play was feared and the constable at Sutererville arrested five men who are under suspicion as being implicated in the affair.

The five foreigners were taken to the Greenburg jail yesterday charged with implication in the fight in which Gonda was killed and Steve Swellon severely beaten. Swellon caused the arrest of the five Italian miners. An inquest was held yesterday by Coroner McMurray and they were committed to jail. All the men were sons of a young woman living near the scene of the tragedy.

The fight in which Gonda lost his life, it is said, started at the home of the girl.

COLUMBUS DAY
FESTIVITIES.

Local Italians Are Celebrating It in Fine Style, Too.

SPEAKERS FAIL TO APPEAR

Lieut. Gov. Murphy and Senator Charles Klein Did Not Come But Others Will Talk—Fine Parade This Afternoon—Marathon Race This Morning.

With the sun shining brightly, the air crisp and cool, and the town thronged with visitors from all parts of the coke region, the Italians of Connellville are today celebrating Columbus Day. In spite of some disappointments in the matter of speakers, the program is being run off as was originally intended. The failure of the speakers to attend was due to a more pressing demand upon their services to attend the dedication of a big State hospital near Philadelphia. Lieutenant Governor Robert S. Murphy telephoned State Senator W. E. Crow late last night stating that he had been advised by Governor Stuart to attend the dedication exercises in the east. State Senator Charles Klein also went to that affair.

The result is that the speaking this afternoon will be done by Fayette countyans, but they are good speakers and the members of the committee expressed themselves as satisfied with the arrangements.

The most distinguished guest of the day is Giuseppe Caldarra, the Italian Consul of Fairmont. Mr. Caldarra is well known among the Italians of this section. His distinguished appearance made him a marked man as he walked the streets this morning in company with the various committee members. He will deliver the leading address this afternoon.

The other speakers will be Judges R. E. Unbel, Judge J. C. Work, Attorney D. W. McDonald and George B. Jeffries and H. P. Snyder.

The parade was held this afternoon, beginning at 1 o'clock. It was headed by Grand Marshal Frank D'Auria. The makeup of the parade was the same as published a few days ago. Hundreds were in line. The principal streets of the town were thronged by the line.

Occupying carriages were the speakers and guests of honor. Members of Town Council were also given conspicuous places in the line. A feature of the parade was the appearance made by the local police force, headed by Chief of Police Rottler, the officers rode on milk white steeds and made an impressive showing.

The floats, showing the Santa Maria and the Landing of Columbus, were decidedly unique. Hundreds of Italians and other foreigners were in line carrying the banners of their various societies.

The town is in gala attire for the occasion. The red, white and blue of America mingles with the red, white and green of Italy. Thousands of flags have been displayed, and yard after yard of bunting. Practically every building in the town town section is decorated.

Among the distinguished out of town guests on hand are State Senator W. E. Crow, Judges R. E. Unbel and J. C. Work, Attorney A. E. Jones, D. W. McDonald and George B. Jeffries, Sheriff P. A. Johns, Logan Ruch and others. The politicians have not overlooked the opportunity to mingle with the voters and a determined effort will be made on both sides to make a good impression upon the Italian citizens who are here by the scores.

The Venetian lanterns on Pittsburgh street were lighted last night for the first time. These decorations are simple, yet strikingly effective. Red, white and green tumbrels are strung on ropes across the thoroughfare which is the Court of Honor. Olive oil and a floating wick made the light, which burns for from three to six hours.

Tonight, beginning about 8 o'clock, the fireworks display will be sent up from the field on the South Side beyond the Armory. If weather conditions are favorable the Italians say their fireworks will eclipse anything of the kind ever seen here. The display was postponed until after 9 o'clock in order to keep the crowd in town as long as possible.

The weather has been sickly, but more than kind to the celebration. Yesterday's rain looked like a steady downpour for a week or so, but this morning the sun broke through the clouds. The mercury dropped to a point that made rain hardly a probability, although the wind was high and disagreeable at times.

KRAUSE WINNER
IN THE MARATHON

Only Two of the Runners Finished, the Second Man Being Lap Behind Winner.

The Marathon race run in connection with the Columbus Day celebration was finished shortly before one o'clock. Ernest Krause was the winner with Ralph Pantalone second, a lap behind. The time of the winner was fifty-three minutes and fifteen seconds. Pantalone was a minute and a half behind.

The race was run under adverse circumstances. The contestants met a hard wind in the Water street stretch, and then turned into a steep grade up Main street to the finish line at Brimstone Corner. The course was down Pittsburg and Peach street, and up Water and Main, 23 laps being required to cover the seven miles.

Krause took the lead from the start and it was at once seen that Ralph Pantalone was his only real opponent. Dante Pantalone, Ralph's brother, was touted to possess exceptional class, but dropped out in the second lap. John Zimmerman also found the pace too much. Fusco stuck to it longer than any of the others except the first two. The entries were:

Ernest Krause, Board Ford.
Ralph Pantalone, Chrysler.
Dante Pantalone, Crabtree—quit in second lap.
Harry Fuser, Connellville.
John Zimmerman, Connellville.

FOUR HUNDRED LIVES ARE LOST

RAILROAD POLICE AND BURGESS FUSS.

Officers Take Prisoners Before Squire and Must Pay Cell Rent.

UNJUST ARRESTS THE CAUSE

Burgess Evans Lectured Officers For Carelessness in Preferring Charges So They Break With Borough—Two Men Arrested For Train Hiding.

The breach between the Burgess office and the Baltimore & Ohio police force has reached the point of an open break. Since Burgess Evans administered a rebuke to the railroad officers for carelessness in making arrests the latter have decided to have no more prisoners tried before him. Now Burgess Evans comes back with a pronouncement in effect that if the officers bring any more prisoners to the battle they will be charged 50 cents a night for each one. The police have been notified to permit the removal of some of the railroad prisoners until this fee is paid.

The first arrests by the railroad officers since the break occurred was last night when Officer James L. Berkibille landed William Murphy and William J. Deal. The two men were taken before Squire Miller and faced charges of trespassing, disorderly conduct, fighting, resisting arrest and making threats to kill. They were committed to jail.

As a result of the hearing the officers will have a report of a conviction, something that has seldom occurred of late. Ordinary trespassers before Burgess Evans get 15 minutes in which to leave town and of late there have been few cases of disorderly conduct.

The cost of the arrest of prisoners tried before a Justice of the Peace will cost the county considerable money. A few years ago the railroad began prosecutions before Justices of the Peace but later turned over its business to the borough authorities. They have been running men into the Burgess court until Burgess Evans began to discourage the habit of arresting prisoners without sufficient evidence.

GEO. POLLY'S PROMISE
WENT WITH BURGESS

Allowed to Go Home For the Amount of His Fine—Police Court Cases.

George Polly, for 22 years a minor at Leisening No. 3 and now boarding house at house No. 123, appeared in police court charged with being drunk. He admitted the allegation, but asked permission to go home and raise the $3.50 fine. After Chief Rottler vouched for him permission was granted this morning.

Clerk A. O. Blaker says all the men from the Broad Ford and Morgan valleys points pay when arrested, but Adam Bangrats neglected that formality. He is doing 48 hours for a Jug. Jack Hahn landed in the battle over night. He was awfully sick this morning, he said. It is pension time for Jack so he turned over $3 and was permitted to go.

John Slosh of Leisening No. 3 took 48 hours for being drunk.

Foreigner Killed.
Mike Solynk on his way from Benty to Leisening was killed Saturday by a Pennsylvania train at Benty.

Hurricane on Coast of Florida Wrought Fearful Havoc; Governor May Be Lost.

United Press Telegram.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 12.—A wireless dispatch from Tampa, the nearest point of communication to the hurricane swept district about Key West today says several hundred persons lost their lives in the storm that last night swept the southeast coast. In addition thousands are homeless, hundreds of buildings are in ruins and Key West City is in mourning.

While the death toll was great in all sections of Southern Florida and the Keys the brunt of the storm is believed to have been borne by the gangs of workmen engaged in railroad construction. At least 400 of these are declared to have perished. Key West is a great mass of wreckage today. The damage is not less than $2,000,000.

While full warning of the storm was given the inhabitants of the stricken district little could be done but making shipping fast. The storm swept down the wind gaining a velocity of 80 miles per hour, 120 and occasionally 100, with terrible results to life and property. Houses, quickly gave way and collapsed, pinning the victims beneath the ruins. Terrible as the storm was it was quickly over. By six o'clock the situation was well in hand at Key West. While reports are still most meagre from any but the largest cities in the stricken district, enough news has been received from the Key's where a great amount of railroad construction was under way to indicate the loss of life is enormous.

Most of the shipping was taken care of through warning of the weather bureau, but it is feared some steamers were caught outside and swamped with their passengers and crew. The Atlantic on its way from St. Louis to New York has Governor's hands of Louisiana aboard. The greatest fear is entertained for his safety. No communication has yet been received from many boats known to have been caught in the gale. Reports from places along the coast say the shore is lined with wreckage of smaller vessels.

Soldiers have been ordered to shoot looters who began their work of pillage before dawn today. Lawless fishermen and clammerers, who took refuge in the city, started a raid on what was left of the gale swept city. The city is under martial law. There was no great loss of life in the city proper but on the unprotected islands and on the outskirts of the city the death toll was heaviest. Along the coast giant waves swept over the islands, hurling the inhabitants into the sea.

Key West is a city of 20,000 population. Hardly a house remains undamaged. The most conservative estimates now place the loss at $3,000,000. The dead are at least 800.

FIRE ON SOUTH SIDE.

Department Called Out for Blaze in Hamilton's House.

Fire was discovered at 1 o'clock in the residence of J. E. Hamilton at the corner of Cedar avenue and Vine street, presumably from an overheated stove. The fire department found trouble in locating the blaze, which was between the partition walls.

After a stubborn fight the blaze was subdued with comparatively little damage being done. Chemicals were used in fighting the fire.

THE EVANS CASE
UP FOR HEARING.

Domestic Troubles to Be Aired in Court This Afternoon.

ECHO OF COUNTY HOME CASES

Former Poor House Director Moser Wants to be Relieved of Judgment in Connection With Surcharge. Routine of the Courts.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 12.—The most important case scheduled to come before the court this morning did not get up before the noon recess and as a consequence a large number of witnesses, mostly women and children were disappointed. It was the habeas corpus hearing brought by Charles E. Evans of Dawson against his wife Ada Evans to secure charge of his children. The couple bail from Dawson and have three children, Emma, Jennie and Larry. Last December the couple had a misunderstanding and Mrs. Evans left with her children and took up her home with her father, James W. Williams of Dawson. She has been making her home there ever since. Evans alleges that he never did anything to cause her to leave and the testimony this afternoon promises to be interesting.

As echo of the old 1904 County Home cases came up this morning when A. E. Moser, who was a Poor Director at the time S. D. Newcomer was discharged with $1,200, filed a petition to be relieved of any responsibility in connection with the surcharge. Moser wants the judgment against him stricken from the records on the ground that he did not know of any of Newcomer's transactions.

E. Marshall was appointed administrator of the estate of G. C. Marshall, with bond in the sum of $20,000 furnished by the Citizens Title & Trust Company of Uniontown as surety.

The will of Ada Higgins, late of Polat Marion, was filed for probate this morning. He directs that $1,000 be reserved from his estate to erect a monument to the memory of himself, his wife and son in the Wolfe cemetery in Greene county. His wife is still living and he directs that she shall receive the balance of the estate. At the time of her death the money is to go to the Children's Aid Society of Uniontown.

An order was made directing the release of Waverly Stark from jail. He was convicted of desertion and non-support at the September term of court and directed to pay $3 a week to his wife. He refused to do so alleging that she was running around with other men. The petition this morning was made by District Attorney Henderson, who appeared to have knowledge that Mrs. Stark had eloped to Ohio with another man.

The county will pay Sheriff P. A. Johns $195.00 for the return of Bert Savage to jail. A bill piece that was protecting Savage from being incarcerated had been surrendered some months ago and the court ordered that he be returned for sentence. Sheriff Johns had to make an excursion into West Virginia and it was rather expensive, but Savage is back in jail. He is under conviction for larceny.

Attorney J. W. Dawson was appointed master in the divorce proceedings growing out of domestic troubles between Elizabeth Hull and J. W. Hull.

Attorney Frank P. Cotton was appointed master in the divorce suit of Susan and Isaac Miner.

Joseph Tucker, who three weeks ago filed his resignation as constable in Radstone township, was allowed to withdraw it and continue as officer in that township.

About 10 years ago Ed. Spilner was sent to the Western penitentiary having been convicted in this county and

A MINER'S AWFUL EXPERIENCE.

Johns Hoziska, Pinned Beneath Body of Dead Companion and Post, Rescued but Slightly Injured.

Pinned down for three hours by the body of a dead miner who had been instantly killed by a fall of slate in the Chittawa mine yesterday, afternoon, John Hoziska, a foreigner, was rescued alive and sustained but slight injuries. The dead man was Andy Borza, aged 36.

Borza and Hoziska were working in the same room when the slate fell. The former was instantly killed, but by a queer trick of fate a pit post and the dead-man's body fell in such a manner that, while Hoziska was pinned beneath the mass of slate and coal, he was but slightly injured.

Pit Boss J. C. Moore formed a rescue party as quickly as the accident was discovered and for three hours worked to extricate Hoziska from the debris. Hoziska was perfectly conscious and helped direct the rescuers.

After being removed, the men worked for an hour more and finally extricated the body of Borza. This was taken to Edwards undertaking establishment at Vanderbilt and later removed to that of J. L. Stador here.

Hoziska was able to go to his home and will return to work in a few days. Borza leaves a wife and several relatives in the old country. Chittawa mine is operated by the Cochrans at Dawson.

Ministers of the Pittsburgh conference of the Methodist Episcopal church were assigned to their pastorates for the ensuing year yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, and the conference, which has been holding its annual meeting in the Bellevue church for the past week, then adjourned.

Rev. R. C. Wolfe, who has been appointed pastor at Connellville to succeed Rev. A. J. Ashe, is one of the most widely known ministers in the Methodist Episcopal conference. For the past year he has pastored at the McKeesport Methodist Episcopal Church and was highly esteemed by the congregation. He is married and has a family. Rev. Ashe gets a fine appointment in the California M. E. church, North Side, Pittsburg.

Dissatisfaction with some of the appointments on the part of the ministers was expected, but a resolution was unanimously adopted commending Bishop C. W. Smith, the presiding officer and his cabinet, composed of the five district superintendents of the conference, all of whom were reappointed.

The Rev. Dr. T. N. Boyle, superintendent of the Allegheny district, speaking for the cabinet, declared that never before had appointments been so satisfactorily arranged, and that never before had they been given such consideration and careful consideration. Bishop Smith offered a slight rebuke to the conference saying that if preachers and church members did not annoy the cabinet so much it would be able to do better work.

The Rev. Dr. T. P. Pershing was granted a leave of absence of one year because of the ill-health of his wife. The minister and his wife will make an extended journey to Europe, Egypt and the Holy Land, and may decide to continue on a trip around the world.

FROST NIPS FLOWERS.

On the Public Grounds and Chief Rottler Has Suggestion.

With the approach of winter weather Chief Rottler has begun his annual worry over the flowers on the City Hall lawn. It pains the Chief to see the frosts come along and nip the flowers, killing them off, when they might be saved.

The newly organized company was to settle with the four original owners but so far it has failed to do so. The company's notes were given but have remained unpaid.

THE SUPREME COURT AFFIRMS DECISION

Of the Orphans' Court in the Smith Estate Case From Connellsville.

Word was received late yesterday afternoon that the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has handed down a decision affirming the finding of the Orphans' Court of Fayette county in the estate of the late Berthann R. Smith. The application of the heirs of the late Robert Smith to have H. M. Kephart named administrator of the estate.

This case has been pending in the courts for the past several years. The last determined opposition to the movement to have the estate escheat to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was made by Robert Smith and others of St. Louis, who claimed to have been sons of the late Robert Smith by his first wife.

The next step in the case will probably be application on the part of Administrator Kephart to have the estate escheat to the State. This has been filed up for the past two years by the litigation brought by the St. Louis heirs.

DETROIT CONFIDENT OF WINNING.

United Press Telegram.

DETROIT, Oct. 12.—"Clarke's team was lucky to win yesterday. We're going to beat the Pirates today and tomorrow," said Hughie Jennings today. Today's game will be played on a heavy field as it rained until late yesterday. Today it is clear and cool, the sun shining brightly, but a chilly wind is blowing.

Indications now are that the players' share of this series will be greater than any before. The gross receipts of the 1907 and 1908 series already have been passed. The players' share will easily reach $50,000. The club owners will also fare well. Manager Clarke is undoubtedly about his pitcher today, but probably will use Willis or Adams. Jennings will use Mullin today and Donovan Wednesday.

Decision of Judge Van Swearingen Affirmed—Long Standing Smith Fuller Case Decided.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 12.—In the list of opinions handed down by the Supreme Court at Pittsburg yesterday one of the most important was the case of Henry J. Deffenbaugh vs. John Ellsworth Hoes, guardian, etc., an appeal from the judgment of Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen, in which Judge Van Swearingen's decision is affirmed. The case involved the custody right of a husband in the coal holdings of his deceased wife, after the coal and surface had been separated. The attorneys were D. M. Horzog and George D. Howell. Judge Van Swearingen handed down an exhaustive opinion involving many knotty questions in the law of real property.

The Supreme Court also affirmed the decree in the matter of the estate of Sarah E. Teed on an appeal by Kate Mestrezat, a daughter, from the judgment of the Fayette county Orphans' Court.

Another case decided finally yesterday was the long standing one of the estate of Smith Fuller, deceased. The appeal of Elizabeth M. Fuller from the decree of the Orphans' Court of Fayette county is denied and judgment affirmed. This estate has been in litigation for years and the case is considered perhaps the most extensive in the courts of this county.

Granted Marriage License.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Fred Darby, an employee of the Bell Telephone Company, in Uniontown, and Miss Ruth White, also of Uniontown.

The funeral of the late Kenneth Bryce of this place, will be held from his late home at Greenburg, Wednesday, interment at Pittsburg. Football has been on the wane with the local high school, it seems. But Coach Zundorf at a lively meeting held last evening started things going and it is likely that much new material will be developed. The games have been scheduled, but it is said that they will play Conneville High School at that place on Thanksgiving afternoon. Conneville High School wants a game at this place on Saturday, but it is not likely that this will be arranged as the team of that place has been put on the black list as it does not play a strictly high school team. U. O. Wolmer has added an up-to-date line of furs.

SOMERSET.

SOMERSET, Oct. 11.—D. E. Koller has one square of East Union street ready for bricklaying and will likely finish that portion of the street within a few days. West street and West Union street are being graded and it is believed that they will be finished before the winter. Contractor McSpaulden has not yet commenced work on East Main street but nearly all the property owners are ready to have that street graded and it is likely that a portion of the grading will be done this year. Along North Main, Cross street property owners are setting curb and bringing their properties up to grade and it is likely that next summer that thoroughfare will be bricked from Center street to the P. W. & S. tracks. Contractor J. C. McSpaulden has a force of men working on the extension of Johnston Pike, which will be macadamized by the State for several thousand feet north of Somerset. It is likely that half a mile of this pike will be completed before snow flies. The remainder will be finished early in the spring. The road will be macadamized and then coated with asphalt, making an almost dustless pike. Contractor McSpaulden has made no preparation up to this time for constructing the State road east of Somerset, along the Bedford Pike. It is likely that work on this road will be postponed until the spring of 1910 when the work will be completed. The beauty of the town has been greatly enhanced by the construction of a number of cement sidewalks in the business section, and it is the universal opinion that Somerset will be the most beautiful and attractive town in this section of the State when the present street paving and other improvements are completed.

SMITHFIELD.

SMITHFIELD, Oct. 12.—Mr. and Mrs. Calvin French of Bentleyville, Washington county, were the guests of Squire A. Gore and wife over Sunday. The Old Time Singers met the second time here in the Presbyterian Church Sunday afternoon. The church was filled to its seating capacity by people from town and surrounding country who came to hear the old melodies of bygone days sung by old gray-haired men and women, who had burned the old buckwheat cakes from the melodian and church minstrel before many of the audience were born. The selections in these old books are well adapted to devotional services and it is a question whether they have been improved on by modern writers of church music. George McBurney and wife of Dawson, are the guests of his son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McBurney, Nov. Spine delivered two acceptable addresses in the Presbyterian Church Sunday, morning and evening.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than in other diseases put together, and until the last few years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from one drop to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer the hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for literature and testimonials. Address: F. J. WEST VIRGINIA'S
GAS AND COAL TAXATION.

The Johnstown Democrat, esteemed contemporary and able exponent of the Single Tax, Free Silver, Free Trade and other doctrines peculiar to the Bryan Democracy, agrees with us concerning the unwisdom and injustice of the proposed West Virginia tax on natural gas consumption, but as might be expected, it takes a very different view of our remarks concerning the taxation of West Virginia coal. The Democrat says:

There is much more sense in the West Virginia proposal to tax coal than in the tax on natural gas. The tax on coal, if levied according to the market value thereof, will stimulate the production of coal while discouraging the monopoly of such natural opportunities. BUT THE NATURAL GAS TAX WOULD BE A STIFFLE ON THE USE OF THE COMMODITY. IT WOULD FALL UPON THE CONSUMER; and its effect would tend to limit the consumption of the product.

It is impossible to sympathize with the Connelville Courier in its violent protest against the proposed tax on West Virginia coal lands. Its protest is based chiefly on the fact that the tax would affect the interests of Pennsylvania speculators. It is not the character of the tax so much as where it would hit that disturbs our Connelville contemporaries.

But Pennsylvania speculators took their chances when they went into West Virginia. They cannot plead the baby act. When they took the West Virginia coal lands they did so with the full knowledge that these lands were subject to any tax the State might impose. All lands in all States is bought on exactly the same basis and speculators cannot justly complain when the State levies a tax property less and money more.

This is West Virginia's proposition. It has decided that it is poor business to tax industry and so to discourage it. It believes that a tax on monopoly and privilege is not only more just, but in fact more conducive to development and growth. And this is the ground the State takes in proposing to lighten the burdens on production and increase them on consumption.

It is a pity that West Virginia does not apply the principle she proposes to the tax on natural gas. There is manifest injustice in taxing the output of her gas wells, for this tax on NATURAL GAS WILL BE PASSED ON BY THE PRODUCER TO THE CONSUMER. DOUBTLESS WITH A GOOD PROFIT ADDED. But if a tax be placed on the value of coal lands with regard to the improvements a very different effect will be noted. Such a tax cannot be passed on for the reason that it takes a certain part of a monopoly value—a value already determined by a natural law—and so leaves only a small part of that value in the hands of the owner. Of course if the owner could add the tax to his value, as the merchant adds a tariff to the price of his goods, he could pass it along. But he can't do this, as any one must see at a glance. It should be clear even to the most obtuse that if you take away a part of the monopoly value of a given opportunity there is no way of replacing it. Monopoly value is determined by the demand for use. This demand cannot be increased by a tax on that value. Hence, the tax must be paid by the owner and he cannot possibly recoup it. If he could he would not care if the tax took the entire value annually.

The tax on land values is like the tax on incomes in one respect. It cannot be passed along. That is why it is so immensely unpopular with certain people who are willing to pile on taxes till they reach the sky. If a man's income is $10,000 a year and the State takes $1,000 it means that $1,000 is taken and $9,000 is left and there has never yet been devised a way of making the $9,000 total up $10,000 after the $1,000 was seized by the Government.

The West Virginia proposal is worth watching. The one in as bad as it can be and it ought to be defeated. But the other is sound in principle and the country is a great service by adopting it. A tax on monopoly values—on the value of coal and other lands—would turn toward the source of nearly all the social and economic ills of the day.

The Democrat has, we fear, not fully digested our remarks about the taxation of West Virginia coal lands. Our protests have not been against the taxation of the form of property, but against undue discrimination on the part of the West Virginia authorities against non-resident owners of West Virginia coal lands. As we have hitherto stated, the Pennsylvania holders of West Virginia coal lands do not ask Special Favor, but only Fair Play.

We will not at this time enter into a discussion of the Single Tax, the Unearned Increment and the remainder of that particular family, but we will say that the Pennsylvania coal land investments in West Virginia have never become a monopoly and privilege, and are not yet subject to taxation as such under the peculiar plan of our esteemed contemporary. There is no particular Privilege about owning West Virginia coal land, and on the part of Pennsylvania investors there is no monopoly. West Virginia investors have holdings quite as general and quite as large.

The objections of Pennsylvania holders are not against taxation, but against discrimination. The disposition in West Virginia to advance the values of Pennsylvania holders and permit those of West Virginians to remain at the lower figures hitherto prevailing has become pronounced, and it is against this that we have voiced the Pennsylvania protest. We repeat that we do not ask Special Favor, but only Fair Play.

The proposed tax on natural gas consumption disclosed the purpose of the West Virginia government to shift the whole burden of its support upon the shoulders of a few, chiefly citizens of other States. It is estimated that the natural gas tax alone will be sufficient to run the State government on a much more liberal plan than it has hitherto run, and that 50 per centum of the tax will be paid by non-residents. It is not seriously pretended in West Virginia that the Gas Monopoly will pay the tax though the proposition was originally so labeled. It is the manifest disposition on the part of West Virginians to make their neighbors pay all the taxes that have occasioned all the protests we have ever made concerning gas or coal land taxation in that State.

The Democrat is undoubtedly correct in saying that the gas tax will be paid by the consumer, doubtless with some profit added, but it is a question whether the proposition of our contemporary to tax West Virginia gas lands would have the effect it claims. The taxes and interest on coal lands have usually been added and in the end paid by the consumer. Under ordinary circumstances and as a general proposition the same rule will apply to undeveloped gas lands, if the assessor can find them.

The Uniontown Herald boasts that it is "the only paper in Western Pennsylvania" that published a complete detailed account of the Detroit baseball game yesterday "within 30 minutes after the game had been played." Not quite. The Courier has issued a baseball extra for every game played in the world series, beginning with the Pittsburgh game of last Friday and Saturday, and its extra was on sale within half an hour after the game was finished. The reports have been the complete reports of the United Press, giving the games in detail. The Herald didn't seem to think of such a stroke of enterprise until The Courier had handed Uniontown a couple of special editions. Then The Herald woke up. Before it has the alibi rubbed out of its eyes it is trying to make the Uniontown people believe that it is the only enterprising paper in the county. There are others, at least one other; and it is big enough to do all its own advertising, too.

The Uniontown Herald woke up to find itself two laps behind. Perhaps that is the reason it can't see The Courier in the race.

KEY WEST IS STORM SWEPT.

Storm Completely Wrecks Florida Coast City.

MARTIAL LAW IS PROCLAIMED

Hundreds of Houses Are Labeled and Factories Are Totally Wrecked. Hurricane Is Worst Key West Has Ever Experienced.

Key West, Fla., Oct. 12.—As a result of the hurricane which struck the southern coast of Florida Key West today is a mass of wreckage and the damage to property is estimated at $2,000,000. Martial law was proclaimed by the mayor and the Key West guards are patrolling the city.

The United States government has been asked to dispatch troops here without delay to assist in patrolling the storm swept area.

Chaos reigns on every hand and few people remain in their homes. Hundreds of which either have been totally wrecked or damaged. It is impossible at this hour to say whether there has been loss of life.

As soon as the wind had subsided plundering began. The city police force was unable to cope with the situation and the mayor decided to take stringent measures to suppress the looting. His proclamation of martial law resulting.

While the hurricane is the worst that Key West has ever experienced the local weather observer said that the indications are that the entire east coast of Florida will suffer terribly. Of one hundred local vessels in the harbor but five remain at anchor, the others having either gone to sea or been washed upon the beach. The streets along the water front are a mass of wreckage.

Brick as well as frame buildings throughout the city suffered alike from the fury of the hurricane and many miraculous escapes from death and serious injury have been reported.

Besides the several score of residences either totally wrecked or blown from their foundations, nine factories were partially destroyed, including the Havana-American, Martinez, Nichols, Ruy Lopez, Manuel Lopez, Melitas Torres, Cortes and Wolf cigar manufacturing. No. 1 and No. 3 of the city fire engine departments were destroyed and the firemen narrowly escaped. The top of the First National bank was blown off, the postoffice damaged and two running gears of the government coal station were wrecked.

WINDY AT HAVANA

Most Serious Blow Since 1906 Damages Cuban Capital.

Havana, Oct. 12.—The most serious tornado since the big blow of Oct. 17, 1906, struck Cuba early this morning, devastating through the whole western portion of the island. In the city of Havana many minor buildings were blown down or unroofed, almost all the trees were uprooted and five persons were killed, one by an electric wire and the others by falling buildings. About twenty-five persons were injured.

The greatest damage done was in the harbor, where forty city lighters, launches and small tug boats either sunk or blown ashore. The total damage in Havana and vicinity is estimated at $1,000,000.

BLIZZARD AT DULUTH

Snow, Sleet and Hail Causes Much Damage.

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 12.—Following a long period of balmy weather Duluth is in the clutches of the first blizzard of the season, whetted in with a sixty mile northwester, accompanied by snow, sleet and hail. Much damage of a minor nature has been done at the head of the lakes. Lake Superior is running high and shipping has been delayed.

ARMY OF DELEGATES

Gather For Centennial Celebration of Disciples of Christ.

Pittsburg, Oct. 12.—From nearly every state in the Union, from the missionary fields of the far east and from the antipodes delegates are coming to celebrate the centenary of the founding of the Church of the Disciples of Christ. Twenty-five thousand followers of Alexander Campbell, representing the four quarters of the earth, are in Pittsburg today and more thousands are coming.

The headquarters of the centennial committee is thronged with visitors. The pilgrims are coming on every train, and, despite the unfavorable weather, the opening sessions of the convention in the Oakland Methodist Episcopal church were largely attended.

With thousands of delegates present the international convention was opened last night at two big meetings in Carnegie Music hall and the Luna park pavilion.

The city of Pittsburg was congratulated by the leaders in the convention for having been the first to secure the largest religious gathering that has ever been held in modern times, for before the close, next Tuesday, it is expected that nearly 50,000 Disciples will have arrived.

LIMBS OF GIRL

Found in Suit Case. Severed From the Body.

Tiverton, R. I., Oct. 12.—The finding of the severed legs of a woman in a dress suitcase among some bushes in an outlying section of this town brought to light what the authorities are convinced is a case of murder. The discovery of a New Bedford newspaper with the portions of the limbs is regarded as the most important clue thus far obtained, indicating possibly the place of the murder. If murder was the cause, the authorities are of the opinion that the woman was murdered in New Bedford; that the legs were placed in the suitcase there and brought by train or automobile to Tiverton.

According to the medical examiner, Dr. John Blumson, the supposed murder was committed not more than twelve or fifteen hours before the suitcase was discovered. That a murder was committed and that the cutting was done by the experienced hands of a surgeon or by a medical student in the belief of the medical examiner, who says that apparently a common hand saw was used to sever the legs from the trunk.

Morse Surprised at Decision. Morse took the decision calmly, though he was plainly grief stricken and perhaps surprised. He heard the news in the office of United States Marshal Henkel and was almost immediately taken to the Tombs.

When he left the federal building in custody of an officer from the Tombs Morse kissed his wife and son and rode downstairs in the elevator.

He was not handcuffed. A taxicab was waiting at the door. After posing for photographers here he entered the cab and was whisked away to prison.

One of Morse's closest regrets at being forced to return to prison is the interruption of his beaver-like struggle to rebuild his fortune. Since his liberation under bail he had been re-

Armed Citizens After 18-Year-Old Boy Who Robbed Bank. Lawrence, Kan., Oct. 12.—Scores of armed citizens are searching for Earl Bullock, an eighteen-year-old desperado, who robbed the state bank at Eudora and later perhaps fatally wounded Policeman Wilson Pringle, who attempted to arrest him at his mother's home here.

Bullock was arrested in Eudora by Deputy Sheriff E. Woods on a charge of robbing a store here. Desiring to talk with E. E. Wilson, cashier of the state bank in Eudora, the deputy took the boy to the bank with him. While Woods and Wilson were talking Bullock drew two revolvers and ordered them to throw up their hands. Then he marched them into a vault and locked the door. Snatching $1,000 he fled.

Two hours later citizens rescued the two men from the vault and a search for Bullock was made. Policemen traced the boy to his mother's home and went there to capture him. Bullock shot down the policeman and made a successful dash for liberty.

MORSE TAKEN BACK TO JAIL.

Prison Sentence of Fifteen Years Is Affirmed.

STAY OF EXECUTION GRANTED

Financier Will Now Make Final Appeal to United States Supreme Court—Meantime His Lawyer Will Try to Secure Bail.

New York Oct. 12.—Unless the supreme court of the United States reverses the decision or the president of the United States intercedes Charles Morse, one time "ice king," coastwise steamship line organizer, banker and capitalist, will serve fifteen years at hard labor in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga.

After having been in liberty under $125,000 bail since June 17 last, he is back in the Tombs prison, where he contemplates the decision of the United States circuit court of appeals sustaining the judgment of the lower court, which found him guilty in November last of violating the national banking laws.

There was solace in the decision of the court of appeals, however, in that only ten of the fifty-three indictments on which he was convicted were sustained and on the strength of this, his counsel, Martin W. Littleton, will immediately carry the case before the United States supreme court on a writ of certiorari. To this end the United States court of appeals has granted a forty days' stay of execution and pending a decision by the supreme court application will be made to have the prisoner again admitted to bail.

Morse took the decision calmly, though he was plainly grief stricken and perhaps surprised. He heard the news in the office of United States Marshal Henkel and was almost immediately taken to the Tombs.

When he left the federal building in custody of an officer from the Tombs Morse kissed his wife and son and rode downstairs in the elevator. He was not handcuffed. A taxicab was waiting at the door. After posing for photographers here he entered the cab and was whisked away to prison.

LIBEL CASE BEING HEARD

Government's Side Argued Before Judge Anderson.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 12.—That the so-called "Panama libel case" was "more or less of a political matter" was the comment of Judge A. B. Anderson of the United States court of this district at the close of argument in the hearing of Charles R. Williams and Delavan Smith, proprietors of the Indianapolis News, whom the government is seeking to remove to the District of Columbia for trial on the charge of criminal libel.

The court said that it wished not to give an impression that it had formed an opinion in the merits of the case, but that it wished to point out the trend of the argument toward its further enlightenment as to whether or not this was probable cause for indictment of Messrs. Williams and Smith by the federal grand jury of the District of Columbia for criminal libel in their having published articles intimating that there was a "graft" of $25,000,000 in the sale of the Panama canal zone to the United States by the French company.

He was sentenced to pay $10 fine and spend thirty days in jail.

Armed Citizens After 18-Year-Old Boy Who Robbed Bank. Lawrence, Kan., Oct. 12.—Scores of armed citizens are searching for Earl Bullock, an eighteen-year-old desperado, who robbed the state bank at Eudora and later perhaps fatally wounded Policeman Wilson Pringle, who attempted to arrest him at his mother's home here.

Bullock was arrested in Eudora by Deputy Sheriff E. Woods on a charge of robbing a store here. Desiring to talk with E. E. Wilson, cashier of the state bank in Eudora, the deputy took the boy to the bank with him. While Woods and Wilson were talking Bullock drew two revolvers and ordered them to throw up their hands. Then he marched them into a vault and locked the door. Snatching $1,000 he fled.

Two hours later citizens rescued the two men from the vault and a search for Bullock was made. Policemen traced the boy to his mother's home and went there to capture him. Bullock shot down the policeman and made a successful dash for liberty.

Druggist J. C. Moore submits the following to the readers of The Courier:

For several years we have announced, with our recommendation, that we had found a positive cure for eczema, a simple skin wash, oil of wintergreen compounded with other healing ingredients.

Yet we know there are people right here in this town who have eczema, and still have never tried this remedy.

We have, therefore, arranged with the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago for a special offer of a trial bottle at 25 cents instead of the $1.00 bottle as regularly sold.

We offer this trial bottle with our recommendation and assurance that just as soon as the patient washes his itching skin, this mild liquid will take the itch away instantly. J. C. Moore, druggist.

LIBEL CASE BEING HEARD

Government's Side Argued Before Judge Anderson.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 12.—That the so-called "Panama libel case" was "more or less of a political matter" was the comment of Judge A. B. Anderson of the United States court of this district at the close of argument in the hearing of Charles R. Williams and Delavan Smith, proprietors of the Indianapolis News, whom the government is seeking to remove to the District of Columbia for trial on the charge of criminal libel.

The court said that it wished not to give an impression that it had formed an opinion in the merits of the case, but that it wished to point out the trend of the argument toward its further enlightenment as to whether or not this was probable cause for indictment of Messrs. Williams and Smith by the federal grand jury of the District of Columbia for criminal libel in their having published articles intimating that there was a "graft" of $25,000,000 in the sale of the Panama canal zone to the United States by the French company.

Former Minister Pleads Guilty to False Pretense Charge. Lorain, O., Oct. 12.—M. L. Woodruff, a former minister, under arrest here for obtaining money under false pretense, and alleged to have been operating in bogus checks in Michigan, Indiana, and Pennsylvania, pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to pay $10 fine and spend thirty days in jail.

BLAMES IT ON DRINK

In court Woodruff said: "My life for some time has been miserable through drink and the consequences of a stroke of paralysis. I know I have sinned against the laws of the land and I am sorry for it."

Nearly an Even Break So Far In World's Baseball Series.

With half the world's series games over, for it is hardly likely more than six games will be played. Pittsburgh has not yet failed to show that it possesses more class than the Detroit Tigers, who have made them go the limit to win.

It is true that the Tigers have proved themselves inferior batters, making more errors than Clarke's men, but the Pirates have made a miscue or two. Schmidt and Abstein have both been the worst soldiers of the series, each having three errors chalked against them. Two of Schmidt's errors were on wild throws to the bases, a lamentable weakness of his. Abstein's miscues have been plain, everyday muffs of thrown balls.

With the reputation of having the heaviest hitting team in the National League, a record maintained by the season's averages, the Pirates have not displayed remarkable hitting ability so far in the series. Those who claim the National League pitching is so far superior to that of the American will have to show the American League fans.

Pittsburgh, it is true, has no Mathewson or Miner Brown, but its pitchers did great work during the regular season and are entitled to an equal share of credit with the batsmen.

Detroit has lived up to its reputation for slugging. The team has hit .345 in the first three games against .315 for the Pirates.

If Ty Cobb wants to get in Wagner's class he will have to go some. Conditions have been against Cobb. Forbes Field is not the best playing ground in the league for batters, while the only game played so far in Detroit was on a soggy diamond. The result is that Cobb has been hitting them out, instead of laying them down. Wagner has batted 500 in the series so far, his wonderful work yesterday bringing his figure way up. He is being given a close run by both Delehanty and Bush. Wagner and Leach are the only Pirates batting better than .300.

Their batting compared, position for position, shows Abstein better than Tom Jones; Delehanty is way ahead of Jack Miller; Wagner has a shade on Owen Bush, but not enough to place him beyond danger of being overhauled; Moriarty has a better average over Byrne. In the outfield D. Jones shows Clarke up, but Leach is just as far ahead of Sam Crawford. All the difference between Owen Wilson and Ty Cobb isn't worth mentioning.

George Gibson, with his reputation for a heavy swatter, has made a lonely two base hit against a double and single by Schmidt. The averages follow:

nected with some of Works' curves in the ninth for two runs. With the score 3 to 4 against it, the Detroit team even then did not realize it was beaten and smashed out two more runs in the last inning. Had Sam Crawford been able to hit up to his usual mark, there would have been a different story to tell. Detroit out-batted Pittsburgh by a margin of one hit, getting twelve to the winners' eleven.

Summers started for the locals but was removed before the end of the first inning. Willett succeeded him and did well until he was taken out to allow McIntyre to bat for him in the seventh. McIntyre struck out. Works succeeded Willett.

Maddox was on the rubber for Pittsburgh and was hit hard in the closing inning, although Detroit could do nothing with him in the early sessions. When the American leaguers did start to hit him they landed hard and often, but Manager Clarke left Maddox in because of the lead his team had.

Hans Wagner the Bright Star. The mighty Hans Wagner was the star of the game, but he was forced to share some of the stellar honors with Owen Bush and Delehanty of the locals. Wagner made four hits and stole four bases, although Catcher Schmidt was not to blame for at least one of the thefts. Besides his hitting and base running, Wagner played an admirable game in the field. In the first inning Wagner beat out a hit to Bush, stole second and went to third on Schmidt's bad throw to second. He then scored on a wild pitch. In the second he reached first on a fielder's choice and on a double steal went to third while Leach was stealing home. In the fifth he singled just out of Tom Jones' reach and stole second. Wagner singled to left in the seventh, but was caught trying to steal second. Schmidt to Bush. In the ninth he again singled and stole second while Leach was on third waiting to score. Schmidt did not throw to catch Wagner this time, however, until he had ascertained that Leach would not try to score.

While Crawford starred in the field his work at the bat was feeble and he missed two excellent chances to swing the tide of victory toward his team. He ended the rally in the seventh inning by a puny pop fly to Abstein with two men on bases. In the ninth he again had a chance with Cobb on second, but his best was a feeble bouncer to Wagner. Cobb made a two-bagger and a single that were important factors in the Detroit rally.

Following is the official attendance and receipts for the game: Total attendance, 18,277; total receipts, $20,876. Division: National commission, $2,087.60; players, $11,188.04; two clubs, $7,443.36. The score:

Pirates' Big Shortstop Makes Four Hits and Steals Four Bases—Game Played Under Most Disagreeable Conditions.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 12.—Pittsburg defeated Detroit by the score of 6 to 8 here in one of the most spectacular and fiercely contested games ever played in a world's championship series. This gives Pittsburgh the margin of two games to one in the series and the National League champions are correspondingly jubilant. Detroit, however, showed in the final innings of the battle that it is far from a hopelessly beaten team.

Weather conditions were frightful. Rain fell frequently during the nine innings, several times in hard showers of several minutes' duration. The sky was threatening all day and the low hanging, dark clouds made the atmosphere so dark during the last two innings that it was hard for both players and spectators to follow the ball. Despite the wretched weather the attendance, 18,277, broke all local records for the world's series.

Pittsburg jumped into the lead immediately by scoring five runs in the first inning. They batted Summers out of the box, aided by some poor fielding. Another run in the second inning gave Pittsburgh a lead of 6 to 0 and the game then appeared to be safe for the visitors. Detroit, however, came to the fore with one of the greatest rallies ever made and scored four runs in the seventh inning, battling Maddox hard and playing like bards.

THRONGS CLAMOR TO SEE PIRATES AND TIGERS; TWO MIGHTIEST HITTERS COMPARE BATS

So tremendous is the interest in baseball that even Forbes Field, the vast arena where the champion Pittsburghs sport, was utterly inadequate to accommodate the great throngs that clamored to see the Pirates and Tigers roll each other in the dust. The National game not only is holding its own, but its season follows season to a triumphant close and the high standard of integrity of the glorious sport is maintained. The public shells out its coin and turns out to root, as it never rooted before. Estimate of the total attendance in the two big leagues for the year 1909 reach the staggering aggregate of 7,379,000. One must also consider that in addition to the patronage of the two major organizations more than 50 minor leagues, employing nearly 5,000 players, also were supported, and most of them closed the season with goodly sums on the profit side of their ledgers. And what is this pecuniary profit as compared to the joy and exhilaration that millions of fans have experienced in the grand stands and bleachers? So long as baseball maintains the honesty that has been its pride and boast from the day of its first rehabilitation it will remain the favorite sport of all Americans who demand and will have nothing that is not clean and fair.

Detroit Scored First, Chasing Two Runs Over the Plate in the Second Inning--With Second and Third Occupied Wagner Struck Out in the Third, Retiring the Side--Tigers Add Three More Tallies in the Fourth and Deacon Philippi Relieved Liefeld--Final Score, Detroit 5; Pittsburgh 0.

United Press Telegram.
DETROIT, Oct. 12.—A high wind has blown all morning and occasional snow flurries have put ice and fro in the hearts of the crowd of fans. The National Commission in session here today decided that if a seventh game is needed to decide the world's championship, no indications point to now it will be played in Pittsburgh on Friday. Manager Clarke of the Pirates was fined $25 by the National Commission for his run in with Umpire O'Laughlin yesterday after "Slick" had reversed the rulings of Johnstone who called Morality out at first.

In addition to the fine upon Clarke, Leach and Camnitz were each fined $25 each. The National Commission has determined that the umpires shall not be "baited" by the members of either club.

When it was learned that Liefeld would pitch for the Pirates, Hustley Jennings of the Tigers sent Stange behind the bat. Schmidt was kept in the game because of his reputation as a hitter, but as he bats left handed, he is not particularly dangerous against southpaws. Stange is considered a better backstop than Schmidt, being more reliable in his throwing.

In Detroit little Owen Bush is the hero of the hour. The clever youngster has kept abreast of mighty Hans Wagner with the willow, although his work in the field has been more or less erratic. The fans here declare when the series is ended, Bush will be as great a hero as were Robo of the White Sox and Roushman of last year's Tigers. These men made good with the stick with a vengeance.

Ty Cobb has his friends. The Georgian, they say, will show the wise ones something yet. Conditions have been adverse to the brilliant youngster, whose hand and run game is a class, and with a fast field this slant can be pulled off to perfection.

Mr. Liefeld's troubles began in the second inning. The Tigers pushed a couple of runs across the rubber on Stange's timely single, Morality and T. Jones being the men who chalked up. In this inning Jack Miller had a wild throw into the crowd but no damage resulted. Morality copped the only other hit Liefeld allowed in this season.

The Pirates had a good chance in the first half of this inning, but Mullin lightened up. He gave Wagner a pass and Miller fanned. Wagner got to second when Deleahanty added another miscue to his folding average, booting Abstein's roller. Wilson forced Honus at third and Mullin's sensational stop of Gibson's drive resulted in his retirement at first.

Mullin showed the stuff he is made of in the third inning by striking out three men. Liefeld was the first victim, but the other two came when things looked blue. After Byrne had doubled and Leach drew a pass, the double steal was attempted successfully, although Detroit had a good kick on Umpire Evans' decision at third. Fred Clarke, the "noble captain," hit on three wide ones and Honus Wagner, with a chance to tie the score, did likewise. Mullin could have had the whole town, with the City Hall thrown in, after sending Wagner back to the bench under such circumstances.

Although Detroit garnered a pair of singles in their half of the third, no scores resulted. Cobb attempted to beat out a bunt but was caught by Gibson and Abstein. Crawford and Deleahanty landed the bingles. Wilson was the only Pittsburgher who could hit Mullin in the fourth. He got a single. Lightning holding by Morality landed Gibson at first for the third out.

The Tigers pined up three runs after two were down in the fourth. The Pittsburgh fans cheered loudly when Wagner pulled off a thrilling double play on Stange's drive, after T. Jones had singled, but their joy was brief. Mullin coaxed Lefty Liefeld for a pass. Davy Jones dunted a single through the infield and then Owen Bush rapped for two bases, chasing Mullin home. A double by Cobb permitted D. Jones and Bush to come under the wire. Crawford was easy for Liefeld and Abstein. The Tiger rosters roared, with delight when Cobb's double drove home a pair of runs.

O'Connor met the usual fate of pinch hitters and fanned when batting for Liefeld in the fifth. Byrne did likewise, Mullin being a complete puzzle. The Tigers fared no better with Philippi on the mound. Deleahanty fouled out and Morality's drive landed in Tommy Leach's mitt. Byrne nailed T. Jones going to Abstein's corner.

Mullin continued mowing down the opposition. In the sixth season Clarke and Miller were his victims. Umpire Klem refused to stand for Wagner's bluff at being hit by the ball and Honus replied by smashing a drive at T. Jones. Up to this inning not a single out had been made by any Detroit player save T. Jones and Stange. Mullin was Mullin's ninth victim by the white route.

The first hit off Philippi was made by Mullin, who smashed one too hot for Miller to handle in the sixth. Wagner had retired Stange at first when that happened. Mullin's hit made the ninth for the Tigers, one for each man. D. Jones died trying to steal second, after reaching first on a life. It was Detroit's first attempt in today's game to purloin a pillow on Gibson.

In the seventh inning D. Jones was the first Tiger except T. Jones and Stange, to make a play out. He landed Abstein's short fly. Gibson smashed this third hit off Mullin but died on first when Philippi's scalp joined the other nine on Mullin's boot. Batteries—Mullin and Stange; Liefeld and Gibson.

THE SCORE BY INNINGS:

First Inning: Pittsburgh—The first ball, Mullin pitched to Byrne was a strike. Byrne then grounded out. Deleahanty to T. Jones. Bush threw out Leach. Clarke out. Deleahanty to T. Jones. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Inning: Detroit—Leach was playing in close and grabbed D. Jones' liner, although he slipped and almost fell in the attempt. Bush was easy. Liefeld losing his little raps to Abstein in plenty of time. Liefeld sent one against Cobb's ribs and Ty went to first. Cobb was caught off first but went to second when Abstein dropped Liefeld's assist. Crawford fled to Leach. No runs, no hits, one error.

Third Inning: Pittsburgh—Umpire Klem sent "Wild Bill" Donovan of the Tigers to the club house for criticizing a decision from the bench. Bill took his time going and delayed the game for some minutes. Wagner out guessed Mullin and drew four balls. Mullin feared Wagner would steal and kept throwing to first to hold him there. Miller struck at three foolers, and retired. Wagner went to second and Abstein was safe at first when Deleahanty fumbled the "latter's" roller. Wilson forced Wagner at third. Mullin to Morality. Wagner was sent with a line bunch of yellow chrysanthemums on his way to the bench. Mullin made a cracking stop of Gibson's high-bouncer, and threw him out at first. No runs, no hits, one error.

Fourth Inning: Detroit—Liefeld hit Deleahanty, sending him to first. Morality singled to left sending Deleahanty to third on Tom Jones' tap to Liefeld to Gibson. Stange singled to right scoring Morality and T. Jones. Mullin forced Stange, Wagner to Miller, but the latter tried to double. Mullin at first he threw into the crowd and Mullin was allowed to go to second. Davy Jones was out. Liefeld to Abstein. Two runs, two hits, one error.

Fifth Inning: Pittsburgh—Liefeld fanned for the first out. Byrne sent a double to left which fell just in side the foul line. Leach coaxed Mullin into giving him four balls. With two on bases and Clarke and Wagner up things looked threatening for the Tigers. Clarke fanned, but Byrne stole third, and Leach second. Byrne's decision on Byrne on third looked decidedly raw. He called Byrne out first and then changed his decision. Morality seemed to have Byrne retired, without question. Wagner fanned. He had a fine opportunity for doing something, but failed, the third strike out of the inning. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning: Detroit—Bush sent a long fly to Clarke. Cobb bunted in front of the plate, but was out. Gibson to Abstein. Crawford singled to center. Deleahanty singled to Abstein. The ball struck Abstein and rolled toward Miller. Jack tried to make a fast play on it but was just a little late. Morality forced Deleahanty, Wagner to Miller. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning: Pittsburgh—Miller was a cinch. Morality making a fast play on his high bouncer. Abstein did his usual world series stunt of fanning. Wilson shot a hot single to left. Morality ran over to the pitchers box, picked up Gibson's roller and shot it to first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Eighth Inning: Detroit—T. Jones beat out a pretty bunt down the third base line. Stange hit into an odd double play. Wagner fumbled the ball, near second, but picked it up touched second in time to force Jones, and then threw Stange out at first. Mullin drew a base on balls. D. Jones singled to left. Bush hit a double to left, scoring Mullin. Cobb doubled, left, scoring D. Jones and Bush. Liefeld threw out Crawford. Three runs, four hits, no errors.

Ninth Inning: Pittsburgh—O'Connor bats for Liefeld. O'Connor fanned. Byrne struck out. Stange dropped the last strike, but tossed the runner out at first. Leach sent a sharp roller to Deleahanty who got him at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Tenth Inning: Detroit—Philippi pitching for Pittsburgh. Deleahanty's foul dropped in Gibson's hit. Morality sent a liner right into Leach's hands. Byrne's throw got T. Jones at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Eleventh Inning: Pittsburgh—Mullin worked hard and

COURIER LEADS WITH BASEBALL EXTRA; OTHERS THEN WAKE UP AND FOLLOW.

The Courier's baseball extra appeared, as usual, yesterday afternoon and gave in detail the best account of the Pittsburgh-Detroit game at Detroit, that was given on the contest outside of Pittsburgh. The Courier inaugurated the baseball extras in Fayette, Westmoreland and Somerset counties with its usual enterprise. Twenty-four hours later two other papers dropped into line and began putting out a bad imitation of The Courier's extra.

For pure, unadulterated gall, the Morning Herald takes the cake. The Herald after being smoked out by The Courier's enterprise and splendid service for the baseball fans of Uniontown, announced this morning that it is the only paper in Western Pennsylvania putting out a detailed account of the game on the same day it is played. The Herald doesn't even have a complete report of the game the morning after.

The Courier does not claim to have its representative on the scene, as the Herald does. Not that the Herald has any representative at Detroit. That is merely a grandstand play. The Courier has secured the complete report of the United Press Association, which has a corps of experts on the scene, men who know the big league players and who have followed the game for years. The Courier's experts are found in the office, preparing interesting reading for the one big baseball extra of the coke region. With experts at both ends of the line, it isn't hard to see why The Courier's baseball extra is the real thing. Owing to the fact that the Detroit games start at 8 o'clock, our time, the baseball extras appear an hour later than when the games are on in Pittsburgh. Fans throughout the coke region know which paper runs the best baseball news. They also appreciate the enterprise of The Courier in being first to inaugurate the baseball extra. All others are mere imitations, being forced to make some sort of a showing, at least, since The Courier slipped one over on them.

FOUR HUNDRED LIVES ARE LOST

Hurricane on Coast of Florida Wrought Fearful Havoc; Governor May Be Lost.

United Press Telegram.
NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 12.—A wireless dispatch from Tampa, the nearest point of communication to the hurricane swept district about Key West today says several hundred persons lost their lives in the storm that last night swept the southeast coast. In addition thousands are homeless, hundreds of buildings are in ruins and Key West City is in mourning.

While the death toll was great in all sections of Southern Florida and the Keys the brunt of the storm is believed to have been borne by the gangs of workmen engaged in railroad construction. At least 400 of these are declared to have perished. Key West is a great mass of wreckage today. The damage is not less than $2,000,000.

While full warning of the storm was given the inhabitants of the stricken district little could be done but make shipping fast. The storm swept down, the wind gaining a velocity of 60 miles per hour.

Properties were quickly swept away and collapsed, plucking the victims beneath the ruins. Terrible as the storm was, it was quickly over. By six o'clock the situation was well in hand at Key West. While reports are still most meagre from any but the largest cities in the stricken district, enough news has been received from the Keys where a great amount of railroad construction was under way to indicate the loss of life is enormous.

Most of the shipping was taken care of through warning of the weather bureau, but it is feared some steamers were caught outside and swamped with their passengers and crew. The Atlantic on its way from St. Louis to New York has Governor Sanders of Louisiana aboard. The greatest fear is entertained for his safety. No communication has yet been received from many boats known to have been caught in the gale. Reports from places along the coast say the shore is lined with wreckage of smaller vessels.

Soldiers have been ordered to shoot looters who began their work of pillage before dawn today. Lawless fishermen and cigarmakers, who took refuge in the city, started a raid on what was left of the gale swept city. The city is under martial law. There was no great loss of life in the city proper but on the unprotected islands and on the outskirts of the city the death toll was heaviest. Along the coast giant waves swept over the islands, hurling the inhabitants into the sea.

Key West is a city of 20,000 population. Hardly a house remains undamaged. The most conservative estimates now place the loss at $3,000,000. The dead are at least 800.

THE SUPREME COURT AFFIRMS DECISION

Of the Orphans' Court in the Smith Estate Case From Connellsville.

Word was received late yesterday afternoon that the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has handed down a decision affirming the finding of the Orphans' Court of Fayette county in the estate of the late Eberthaus R. Smith. The application of the heirs of the late Robert Smith to have H. B. Kephart named administrator of the estate.

This case has been pending in the courts for the past several years. The last determined opposition to the movement to have the estate escheat to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was made by Robert Smith and others of St. Louis, who claimed to have been sons of the late Robert Smith by his first wife.

The next step in the case will probably be an application on the part of Administrator Kephart to have the estate escheat to the State. This has been tied up for the past two years by the litigation brought by the St. Louis heirs.

DETROIT CONFIDENT OF WINNING.

United Press Telegram.

DETROIT, Oct. 12.—"Clarke's team was lucky to win yesterday. We're going to beat the Pirates today and tomorrow," said Hugh Jennings today. Today's game will be played on a heavy field as it rained until late yesterday. Today it is clear and cool, the sun shining brightly, but a chilly wind is blowing.

Indications now are that the players' share of this series will be greater than any before. The gross receipts of the 1907 and 1908 series already have been passed. The players' share will easily reach $80,000. The club owners will also fare well. Manager Clarke is undecided about his pitcher today, but probably will use Willis or Adams. Jennings will use Mullin today and Donovan Wednesday.

DEFFENBAUGH CASE IN SUPREME COURT

Decision of Judge Van Swearingen Affirmed—Long Standing Smith Fuller Case Decided.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 12.—In the list of opinions handed down by the Supreme Court at Pittsburg yesterday one of the most important was the case of Henry J. Deffenbaugh vs. John Ellsworth Hoos, guardian, etc., an appeal from the judgment of Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen, in which Judge Van Swearingen's decision is affirmed. The case involved the court's right of a husband in the control of his wife's personal property, after the death of his wife, after the wife and her husband had been separated. The attorneys were D. M. Horstog and George D. Howell. Judge Van Swearingen handed down an exhaustive opinion involving many knotty questions in the law of real property.

The Supreme Court also affirmed the decree in the matter of the estate of Sarah E. Teed on an appeal by Kate Messmore, a daughter, from the judgment of the Fayette county Orphans' Court.

Another case decided finally yesterday was the long standing one of the estate of John Fuller, deceased. The appeal of Elizabeth M. Fuller from the decree of the Orphans' Court of Fayette county is denied and judgment affirmed. This estate has been in litigation for years and the case is considered perhaps the most extensive in the courts of this county.

WEST VIRGINIA'S GAS AND COAL TAXATION.

The Johnstown Democrat, esteemed contemporary and able exponent of the Single Tax, Free Silver, Free Trade and other doctrines peculiar to the Bryan Democracy, agrees with us concerning the unwisdom and injustice of the proposed West Virginia tax on natural gas consumption; but, as might perhaps be expected, it takes a very different view of our remarks concerning the taxation of West Virginia coal. The Democrat says:

There is much more sense in the West Virginia proposal to tax coal lands than in the one to tax the exports of natural gas. The tax on coal lands, it is pointed out, will be a value added tax, while the tax on gas would be a tax on the product of the land, and would tend to limit the consumption of the product.

It is impossible to sympathize with the Connelville Courier in its violent protest against the proposed tax on West Virginia coal lands. Its protest is based on the fact that the tax would affect the interests of Pennsylvania speculators. It is not the character of the tax, but the fact that it would hit the interests of Pennsylvania speculators that disturbs our Connelville contemporary.

But Pennsylvania speculators took their chances when they went into West Virginia. They cannot plead the baby act when they bought West Virginia coal lands. They did so with the full knowledge that these lands were subject to any tax the State might impose. All land in all the States is bought on this basis. It is a fact that the State cannot justly complain when the State decides to tax property less and monopoly more.

This is West Virginia's proposal. It has decided that it is poor business to tax industry and so to discourage it. It believes that a tax on monopoly and privilege is not only more just, but infinitely more conducive to development and growth. And this is the ground the State takes in proposing to lighten the burdens on production and increase them on monopoly and privilege.

It is a pity that West Virginia does not adopt the principle she proposes in the case of coal lands to those yielding natural gas. There is manifest injustice in the present tax on gas, which is a tax on the product of the land, while the tax on coal is a tax on the land itself.

The tax on coal is a tax on the land, while the tax on gas is a tax on the product of the land. It is a pity that West Virginia does not adopt the principle she proposes in the case of coal lands to those yielding natural gas.

shift the whole burden of its support upon the shoulders of a few, chiefly citizens of other States. It is estimated that the natural gas tax alone will be sufficient to run the State government on a much more liberal plan than it has been hitherto run, and that 80 per centum of the tax will be paid by non-residents. It is not seriously pretended in West Virginia that the Gas Monopoly will pay the tax though the proposition was originally so labeled. It is the manifest disposition of the part of West Virginians to make their neighbors pay all the taxes that has occasioned all the protests we have ever made concerning gas or coal land taxation in that State.

The Democrat is undoubtedly correct in saying that the gas tax will be paid by the consumer, doubtless with some profit added, but it is a question whether the proposition of our contemporary to tax West Virginia gas lands would have the effect it claims. The taxes and interest on coal lands have usually been added and in the end paid by the consumer. Under ordinary circumstances and as a general proposition the same rule will apply to undeveloped gas lands, if the assessor can find them.

The Uniontown Herald boasts that it is the only paper in Western Pennsylvania that published a complete detailed account of the Detroit baseball game yesterday. Within 30 minutes after the game had been played, the Herald had the story in its columns. Not quite. The Courier has issued a baseball extra for every game played in the world series, beginning with the Pittsburgh games of last Friday and Saturday, and its extra was on sale within half an hour after the game was finished. The reports have been the complete reports of the United Press, giving the games in detail. The Herald didn't seem to think of such a stroke of enterprise until the Courier had handed Uniontown a couple of special extras. When the Herald woke up, it has the sleep rubbed out of its eyes. It is trying to make the Uniontown people believe that it is the only enterprising paper in the country. There are others, at least one other, and it is big enough to do all its own advertising, too.

The Uniontown Herald woke up to find itself two days behind. Perhaps that is the reason it can't see The Courier in the race.

Columbus came to Connelville on a rather stormy day, but the weather never daunted the Discoverer.

The Connelville Township Supervisors will complete the work of repairing the roads while the weather is good. The example is a good one for all those charged with road or street making or repairing. The wise farmer long ago learned to make hay when the sun shone.

Pennsylvania is contributing liberally to the borough treasury.

The Greensburg merchants have re-inaugurated the Saturday Day plan of attracting people to town. The Connelville merchants are not content with one bargain day in the week. They seek to have every day a bargain day, and by the liberal use of printers ink they seldom fail.

The Methodist ministers are getting ready to move again.

State falls in the mines have been unusually numerous the past few weeks. Miners should be particularly careful.

There are a great many kinds of bugs. Some of them are destructive to property. Some are annoying. Some are like the bed-bug, some like the kissing-bug, but the worst bug of all is the first-bug. The Uniontown seems to have a few of them.

There are some political Columbuses in town today, on Voyages of Discovery.

Burgess Evans is taking care of the orphan horses.

The Fayette county farmers will discuss education at their next meeting. A college education may not be essential to farming, but it doesn't hurt if a farmer can make up his mind to stick to the soil. The trouble is that most farmer boys who go to college never go back to the farm. But there is much valuable book-learning being issued by the Agricultural Department of the State and National Governments, and the farmers ought to be intelligent enough to read this information and apply it understandingly.

This is the season when the Climbers and the Chestnuts get together.

The Connelville check-raiser has returned after many days and he is in a fair way to be soaked.

All the candidates for Mayor of New York are reformers. There's something either very good or very bad about this campaign.

The Summit Hotel seems to have been just a trifle ahead of Uniontown's progress. It is too good a property to be abandoned, and we trust that the present boom will carry it to final and complete success.

Welcome, Columbus!

Monongahela river coal at Brownsville has been marked up almost as high as Kentucky coke, but from prominent coke prices the Connelville coal will soon be marked up again. It begins to look as if there were some mistakes made somewhere in the management of the proposed coke merger.

Republicans Have Enthusiastic Gathering at Borough Building Last Night.

COURIER'S BASE BALL EXTRA

Fans Delighted With Complete Story of Yesterday's Contest at Detroit. County School Children Complain of Cold-Other Notes.

SCOTSDALE, Oct. 12.—The meeting of the Republican County Committee at the Borough building was a large one last evening, when Charles C. Crowell, candidate for Judge on the Republican ticket, came here, accompanied by County Chairman John F. Wentling and Col. William T. Don, candidate for District Attorney. The meeting was called to order by Hon. W. N. Porter of the First Ward and John W. Bassett, a veteran Republican of the Third Ward was elected chairman. The meeting was purely of an informal nature, and devoted to a survey of the prospects of the campaign.

The Republican candidate for Judge in a brief speech greatly pleased the few who had not heard him before. Mr. Crowell who is 43 years old, has practiced law more than a dozen years, after leaving the office of John F. Wentling, and he has bright prospects of carrying the county of Westmoreland. Judge L. W. Doty's friends claim that the latter will be a winner for a third term of 10 years on the bench, and as he is credited with dominating the party to such an extent as to wipe out all opposition in his own party for other offices so that he can devote his entire time to his own candidacy, he is acknowledged to be a strong factor.

Harry N. Yont, the Republican candidate for Probationary and John W. Hawk, for Clerk of Courts, two of the best jobs in the county, are not opposed by Democrats thus removing any fight there. Curtis Ankeney for Jury Commissioner, has no opposition, for both he and the Democratic nominee are bound to be elected, while Colonel Don for District Attorney has only the opposition of J. Henry Keenan, a young fellow but a short time at the bar. R. D. Wolf and I. N. Dixon for Poor Director, are bound to win with one Democrat for company, and that looks like Jonas M. Kennel of Scottdale.

Judge Doty had no opposition for the nomination. A feature of the week was Deputy Attorney General Jesse E. R. Cunningham and former State Treasurer James S. Beaman, both of whom were defeated in the judgeship campaign, coming out for Mr. Crowell and the whole Republican ticket, thus removing any alleged vote spots along that line. David S. Atkinson, the dean of the Westmoreland county bar, also came out strong for Mr. Crowell.

Halloween Meeting. There will be a meeting of all those who want a safe and sane Halloween celebration in this town, at the Borough building this evening at 8 o'clock. Everybody is invited to be present, and contribute their mite in aid of the celebration. The observances in the past have been very successful, and the future ones should be much better since time has taught what makes success. Let every one be out and take a hand in the preparations. The meeting last Friday evening was postponed on account of the great number who were away at the ball game.

Uncomfortable Mornings. There have been a good many complaints among the children of the country schools during the cold mornings of the month when no fire was discovered in the stoves that heat up these temples of learning. The townships make no provision for janitor service and the teachers have to build the fires, so that they may sometimes grow a little bit in warming up the pupils in this particular way. But they themselves do not feel the cold quite so much being able to walk around, and sometimes extend themselves and create a glow by a spanking bout with some urchin.

A Teachers' Meeting. The High School teachers met last evening in their regular session, presided over by Luntis Tanner, the new Supervising Principal. There was an attendance of the entire staff of High School teachers.

Health is Fine. Health Officer F. P. Goshorn says that the health of the town is right, and that there are no cases of influenza or contagious diseases reported. Scottdale has an enviable record as a healthy place.

There Were Three. Police business took a fearful turn last night, when Burgess R. F. Ellis gave a hearing to three drunks that the police had brought in. "This town is getting to be almost angelic."

An Interesting Marriage. A romantic wedding was held here in Portland, Ore. last evening, the bride being a Pittsburgh girl who two weeks ago left for the west to join her fiancé, and the bridegroom a young man originally from Beaver. It was the marriage of Miss H. B. Gault, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Charles L. G. Cartwright of the North Side Pittsburgh, formerly of Scottdale, and Stanley Butler Miller. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock in the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Portland, the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Young, officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will make their home in Portland, where Mr. Miller is employed in a bank. While en route to the far west the bride visited friends in Chicago and Des Moines, Ia.

The Baseball Extra. The Uniontown Herald sometimes carries surprises with it when it comes into circulation here in the morning, and this morning was one of them. "While the Pittsburgh team is in Detroit, the Herald is the only paper in Western Pennsylvania that publishes the game the same day it is played," was a sentence that made some baseball patrons bat their eyes today. They had read the baseball extra of The Courier yesterday, telling the story by titling. If the Herald had another day to go over itself it would probably claim to be the only paper in Western Pennsylvania to print anything baseball or otherwise.

The Ministerial Appointments. Some Methodists expected to hear the announcements of the conference appointments last night, but as the announcements were very late they did not get satisfaction in that line. So far as this place is concerned with the return of Rev. R. B. Mansell, D. D., to the First Church and Rev. Archibald Auld to the Alverton charge which takes in Chapel and Jacobs Creek appointments, are universally satisfactory, a condition that has existed in either church for some time.

Got His Hair Back. Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Hairpencil. Frederick Masuelli, Maryland block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Hairpencil, April 6, '09, and began to use it for entire baldness. The hair follicles in his scalp were not dead and in 20 days he had hair all over his head. On July 2 he writes "and today my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Hairpencil works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroy the cause and you remove the effect. Hairpencil destroys the germ that causes dandruff falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once and a new growth starts. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Hairpencil Co., Detroit, Mich. One dollar bottles guaranteed. Graham & Co., Special Agents.

Decidedly ordinary scores were rolled in the Connellsville Duckpin League last night when the Topnotchers and Athletics clashed. The Topnotchers came out on top, winning three straight games, and narrowing the margin, which separates them from the Cubs and second place.

The scores rolled were as disappointing to both teams and all the players seem to have an off night. Some blamed it on the weather. Dobbie was the only man to break over the 100 mark in one game while Captain Norris led his team with 272. John Work was high man for the Athletics with 256. The score:

Old Faces Made Young.

Simple Explanation of What Sounds Like a Miracle.

Did you ever wonder why one part of the skin should grow old before another. It seems to do so, in the case of the face, neck and hands. Exposure to the weather really means exposure to various forms of uncleanliness. Even the constant use of water, which carries all sorts of material in solution, together with soaps that deposit dead fats in the pores, soon choke the countless sweat ducts and the skin grows harsh, sallow and wasted.

For such skins, Crown Cream should be used at once, together with the Havin Beauty Cup. Crown Cream acts first by cleansing the pores, and ridding the surface of dead skin matter. Then it changes blotches to healthy tissue, and acts instantly upon every form of blemish, quickens the action of the Crown Cream, and massages the skin to its lowest layer. It does this through a vacuum system, which cannot hurt the most delicate tissues, and thus is greatly superior to any hand manipulation of the skin.

Crown Cream can be had of all dealers in toilet goods for 50c a jar, and this is the price of the Beauty Cup as well. In case your dealer is not supplied, order direct from the Havin Mfg. Co., Toledo, Ohio.

KEY WEST IS STORM SWEPT.

Storm Completely Wrecks Florida Coast City.

MARTIAL LAW IS PROCLAIMED

Hundreds of Houses Are Levelled and Factories Are Totally Wrecked. Hurricane is Worst Key West Has Ever Experienced.

Key West, Fla., Oct. 12.—As a result of the hurricane which struck the southern coast of Florida Key West today is a mass of wreckage and the damage to property is estimated at $2,000,000. Martial law was proclaimed by the mayor and the Key West guards are patrolling the city.

The United States government has been asked to dispatch troops here without delay to assist in patrolling the storm-swept area.

Chaos reigns on every hand and few people remain in their homes, hundreds of which either have been totally wrecked or damaged. It is impossible at this hour to say whether there has been loss of life.

As soon as the wind had subsided plundering began. The city police force was unable to cope with the situation and the mayor decided to take stringent measures to suppress the looting. His proclamation of martial law resulted.

While the hurricane is the worst that Key West has ever experienced the local weather observer said that the indications are that the entire east coast of Florida will suffer terribly. Of one hundred local vessels in the harbor but five remain at anchor, the others having either gone to sea or been washed upon the beach. The streets along the water front are a mass of wreckage.

Brick as well as frame buildings throughout the city, suffered alike from the fury of the hurricane and many miraculous escapes from death and serious injury have been reported. Besides the several score of residences either totally wrecked or blown from their foundations, nine factories were partially destroyed, including the Havana-American, Martinez, Nichols, Ruy Lopez, Manuel Lopez, Melitas Torrey, Cox, and Wolf cigar manufacturing companies. No. 1 and No. 3 of the city fire engine departments were destroyed and the firemen narrowly escaped. The top of the First National bank was blown off, the postoffice damaged and two running gears of the government coal-station were wrecked.

Every telephone and electric light pole on Duval street, the principal thoroughfare of the city, was blown down.

WINDY AT HAVANA

Most Serious Blow Since 1906 Damages Cuban Capital.

Havana, Oct. 12.—The most serious tornado since the big blow of Oct. 17, 1906, struck Cuba causing extensive devastation through the whole western portion of the island. In the city of Havana many minor buildings were blown down or unroofed; almost all the trees were uprooted and five persons were killed, one by an electric wire and the others by falling buildings. About twenty-five persons were injured.

The greatest damage done was in the harbor, where forty or fifty lighters, launches and small tugs were either sunk or blown ashore. The total damage in Havana and vicinity is estimated at $1,000,000.

BLIZZARD AT DULUTH

Snow, Sleet and Hail Causes Much Damage.

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 12.—Following a long period of cold weather Duluth is in the clutches of the first blizzard of the season, ushered in with a sixty mile northeaster, accompanied by snow, sleet and hail.

Much damage of a minor nature has been done at the head of the lakes. Lake Superior is running high and shipping has been delayed.

Snow Flies in the West.

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 12.—Light snow fell here and in many towns in central Iowa last night.

Wisnau, Minn., Oct. 12.—Three inches of snow fell here last night. At times the storm assumed the proportions of a blizzard.

New Richmond, Wis., Oct. 12.—Snow flurries here were followed by a blizzard. The temperature dropped to freezing.

ARMY OF DELEGATES

Gather For Centennial Celebration of Disciples of Christ.

Pittsburg, Oct. 12.—From nearly every state in the Union, from the missionary fields of the far east and from the antipodes delegates are coming to celebrate the centenary of the founding of the Church of the Disciples of Christ. Twenty-five thousand followers of Alexander Campbell, representing the four quarters of the earth, are in Pittsburg today and more thousands are coming.

The headquarters of the centennial committee is thronged with visitors. The pilgrims are coming on every train, and despite the unfavorable weather, the opening sessions of the convention in the Oakland Methodist Episcopal church were largely attended.

With thousands of delegates present the international convention was opened last night at two big meetings in Carnegie Music hall and the Luna park pavilion.

The city of Pittsburg was congratulated by the leaders in the convention for having been the first to secure the largest religious gathering that has ever been held in modern times, for before the close, next Tuesday, it is expected that nearly 50,000 Disciples will have arrived.

LIMBS OF GIRL

Found in Suit Case, Severed From the Body.

Tiverton, R. I., Oct. 12.—The finding of the severed legs of a woman in a dress suitcase among some bushes in an outlying section of this town brought to light what the authorities are convinced is a case of murder.

The discovery of a New Bedford newspaper with the portions of the limbs is regarded as the most important clue thus far obtained, indicating possibly the place of the murder. It is murder there was. The authorities are of the opinion that the woman was murdered in New Bedford; that the legs were placed in the suitcase there and brought by team or automobile to Tiverton.

According to the medical examiner, Dr. John Silman here, the supposed murder was committed not more than twelve or fifteen hours before the suitcase was discovered. That a murder was committed and that the cutting was done by the experienced hands of a surgeon or by a medical student is the belief of the medical examiner, who says that apparently a common hand saw was used to sever the legs from the trunk.

HUNT DESPERADO.

Armed Citizens After 18-Year-Old Boy Who Robbed Bank.

Lawrence, Kan., Oct. 12.—Scores of armed citizens are searching for Earl Bullock, an eighteen-year-old desperado, who robbed the state bank at Eudora and later perhaps fatally wounded Policeman Wilson Pringle, who attempted to arrest him at his mother's home here.

Bullock was arrested in Eudora by Deputy Sheriff E. Woods on a charge of robbing a store here. Desiring to talk with E. B. Wilson, cashier of the state bank in Eudora, the deputy took the boy to the bank with him. While Woods and Wilson were talking Bullock drew two revolvers and ordered them to throw up their hands. Then he marched them into a vault and locked the door. Snatching $1,000 he fled.

Two hours later citizens rescued the two men from the vault and a search for Bullock was made. Policemen traced the boy to his mother's home and went there to capture him. Bullock shot down the policeman and made a successful dash for liberty.

CRANE WILL KNOW TODAY

His Fitness For Diplomatic Service Will Have Been Determined.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Today probably will see the determination of the question whether Charles R. Crane will be requested to resign his recently acquired office of minister of the United States to China or he will be permitted to resume in that capacity his journey to Peking.

He was almost in the act of sailing from San Francisco when peremptorily summoned by Secretary of State Knox to return forthwith to Washington and explain his alleged responsibility for the disclosure in a newspaper dispatch of supposedly confidential information about the attitude of the United States toward the new treaties between China and Japan.

CURES REMOVE DOUBT ABOUT ECZEMA CURE.

Read What Your Druggist Says About Oil of Wintergreen Compound.

Druggist J. C. Moore submits the following to the readers of The Courier:

For several years we have announced, with our recommendation, that we had found a positive cure for eczema; a simple skin wash, oil of wintergreen compounded with other healing ingredients.

Yet we know there are people right here in this town who have eczema, and still have never tried this remedy.

We have, therefore, arranged with the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago for a special offer of a trial bottle of 25 cents instead of the $1.00 bottle as regularly sold.

We offer this trial bottle with our recommendation and assurance that just as soon as the patient washes his itching skin, this mild liquid will take the itch away instantly.

MORSE TAKEN BACK TO JAIL.

Prison Sentence of Fifteen Years is Affirmed.

STAY OF EXECUTION GRANTED

Financial Will Now Make Final Appeal to United States Supreme Court—Meantime His Lawyer Will Try to Secure Bail.

New York, Oct. 12.—Unless the supreme court of the United States reverses the decision or the president of the United States intercedes Charles Morse, one-time "ice king," coastwise steamship line organizer, banker and capitalist, will serve fifteen years at hard labor in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga.

After having been at liberty under $25,000 bail since June 17 last, he is back in the Tombs prison, where he contemplates the decision of the United States circuit court of appeals sustaining the judgment of the lower court, which found him guilty in November last of violating the national banking laws.

There was solace in the decision of the court of appeals, however, in that only ten of the fifty-three indictments on which he was convicted were sustained and on the strength of this, his counsel, Martin W. Littleton, will immediately carry the case before the United States supreme court on a writ of certiorari. To this end the United States court of appeals has granted a forty days' stay of execution and pending a decision by the supreme court application will be made to have the prisoner again admitted to bail.

Morse took the decision calmly, though he was plainly grief stricken and perhaps surprised. He heard the news in the office of United States Marshal Henkel and was almost immediately taken to the Tombs.

When he left the federal building in custody of an officer from the Tombs Morse kissed his wife and son and rode downstairs in the elevator. He was not handcuffed. A taxicab was waiting at the door. After posing for photographers here he entered the cab and was whisked away to prison.

One of Morse's keenest regrets at being forced to return to prison is the interruption of his business. Since his liberation under bail he had been reselected president of the Metropolitan Steamship company, a New England corporation, and of the Hudson Navigation company, operating a line of boats on the Hudson. He is credited with having discharged the bulk of his debts. From the coastwise transportation lines that had within the week elected Morse as their president there was no official statement forthcoming after the decision. It was understood, that for the time being, at least, the elections would stand.

Former Minister Pleads Guilty to False Pretense Charge. Lorraine, O., Oct. 12.—M. L. Woodruff, a former minister, under arrest here for obtaining money under false pretense, and alleged to have been operating in bogus checks in Michigan, Indiana, and Pennsylvania, pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to pay $10 fine and spend thirty days in jail.

In court Woodruff said: "My life for some time has been miserable through drink and the consequences of a stroke of paralysis. I know I have sinned against the laws of the land and I am sorry for it."

LIBEL CASE BEING HEARD

Government's Side Argued Before Judge Anderson.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 12.—That the so-called "Panama libel case" was "more or less of a political matter" was the comment of Judge A. B. Anderson of the United States court of this district at the close of argument in the hearing of Charles R. Williams and Delavan Smith, proprietors of the Indianapolis News, whom the government is seeking to remove to the District of Columbia for trial on the charge of criminal libel.

The court said that it wished not to give an impression that it had formed an opinion in the merits of the case, but that it wished to point out the trend of the argument toward its further enlightenment as to whether or not this was probable cause for indictment of Messrs. Williams and Smith by the federal grand jury of the District of Columbia for criminal libel in their having published articles indicating that there was a "great" of $25,000,000 in the sale of the Panama canal zone to the United States by the French company.

NOW ON STRIKE

Millions of Stomachs Refuse To Do Their Work Properly.

All over this broad land millions of stomach owners are being held in humiliating subjection just because they are so stubborn that they will not accept a fair, square and broad-minded offer.

Life is short for all of us; it will be shorter for those who let their stomachs go from bad to worse.

A. A. Clarke has a famous prescription called M-I-O-N-A and he believes so thoroughly in its remarkable curative power that he says to every owner of a distressed stomach that he will guarantee M-I-O-N-A tablets to cure acute or chronic indigestion and all stomach ailments or money back and the price is only 50 cents a box.

And still there are stubborn people right in Connelville who won't accept this offer but continue to suffer from gas on stomach, belching of sour food, stomach pains, foul breath, dizziness, biliousness and headaches just because—that's all, there is no other reason.

M-I-O-N-A tablets stops dyspeptic agony in five minutes; they cure obstinate cases of indigestion and turn the old stomach into a new one in a few weeks—or money back.

THE CONQUEST OF THE POLE

THE observations of April 14 gave latitude 85 degrees 21 minutes, longitude 06 degrees 52 minutes. We were but 100 miles from the pole, but there was nothing to relieve the mental strain of the icy desolation. The wind came with the same staccato cut from the west. There had been little drift, but the ice before us displayed signs of recent activity. It was more irregular, with an open crack here and there, but the sleds glided with less friction, and the dreary dogs maintained a better speed under rising tides.

With teeth set and newly sharpened resolutions, we set out for that last 100 miles. Some dogs had gone into the stomachs of their hungry companions, but there still remained a sufficient pull of well tried brute force for each sled, and, though their noisy vigor had been lost in the long drag, they still broke the frigid silence with an occasional outburst. A little fresh enthusiasm from the drivers was quickly followed by canine activity.

We were in good trim to cover distance economically. The sledges were light, our bodies were thin. All the muscles had shrank, but the dogs retained much of their strength. Thus stripped for the last lap, our horizon after another was lifted.

In the forced effort which followed we were frequently overheated. The temperature was steady at 44 degrees below zero F., but perspiration came with ease and a certain amount of pleasure. Later, however, there followed a long period of suffering for many days. The delight of the blizzard shirt was changed for the chill of the wet blanket.

Fortunately, at this time the sun was warm enough to dry the furs in about three days if lashed to the sunny side of the sled. In these last days we felt more keenly the pangs of perspiration than in all our earlier adventures.

The amber colored goggles were persistently used, and they afforded a protection to the eyes which was quite a revelation, but in spite of every precaution our distorted, frozen, burned and withered faces lined a map of the hardships on route.

We were curious looking savages. The perpetual gliding induced a squint which distorted the faces in a remarkable manner. The strong light reflected from the crystal surface threw the muscles about the eye into a state of chronic contraction. The pupils were reduced to a mere pinhole.

There was no end of trouble at hand in endeavoring to keep the windows of the sled open, and all of the effort was run together in a set expression of hardship and wrinkles which should be called the boreal squint.

This boreal squint is a part of the ruse nature substitutes which falls to the lot of every Arctic explorer. The early winds, with a piercing temperature, start a flush of scarlet, while frequent frostbites leave figures in black. Later the burning sun browns the skin; subsequently strong winds nip the moisture, harden the skin and leave open fissures.

The hard work and reduced nourishment contract the muscles, deplete the fat and leave the skin to shrivel up in folds. The imprint of the goggles, the set expression of hard lines and the mental blank of the environment have removed all spiritual animation. We have the color and the lines of a russet apples and would easily pass for prehistoric progenitors of us.

In the enforced effort to spread out the stiffened legs over the last reaches there was no longer sufficient energy at camping times to erect a snow shelter. The silk tent was pressed into use. Though the temperature was very low when the sun was high, the congealed rays pierced the silk fabric and rested softly on our brows closed in heavy slumber. In strong winds it was still necessary to erect a sheltering wall to shield the tent.

Slews of sand were still seen every day, but they were deceptive optical illusions and a mere verdict of fancy. It seemed that something must happen, some line must cross our horizon, to mark the important area into which we were pressing.

When the sun was low the eye ran

Final Dash For the Pole.

The "Big Mail" Reached at Last and "Old Glory" Unfurled—Endless Fields of Purple Snows—No North, No East, No West.

over moving plains in brilliant waves of color to dancing horizons. The inverted lands and queer objects ever rose and fell in shrouds of mystery, but all of this was due to the atmospheric magic of the midnight sun.

With a lucky series of daily astronomical observations our position was now accurately fixed for each stage of progress. As we neared the pole the imagination quickened, and a restless, almost hysterical excitement came over us. The boys fancied they saw heaven and hell, and I had a new land under observation frequently, but with a change in the direction of light or an altered trend in our temperament the horizon cleared and we became eager only to push farther into the mystery.

From the eighty-eighth to the eighty-ninth the ice was in very large fields and the surface was less irregular, but in other respects it was about the same as below the eighty-seventh. We noticed here also an extension of the range of vision. We seemed to see longer distances and the ice along the horizon had a less angular outline.

The color of the sky and the ice also changed to deeper purple blues. We had no way of checking these impressions by other observations. The eagerness to find something unusual may have fired the imagination, but since the earth is flattened at the pole perhaps a widened horizon should be detected.

At 8 o'clock on the morning of April 19 we camped on a picturesque level field with convenient hummocks, to which we could easily rise for the frequent outlook which we now maintained. The tent was pitched. The dogs were silenced by blocks of pemmican. In our new enthusiasm was aroused by a liberal pot of pea soup and a few chips of frozen meat, and then we bathed in life giving sunbeams, screened from the piercing air by silk tarps. It was a beautiful day, and but our sense of appreciation had been blunted by accumulated fatigue we would have greatly enjoyed the play of light and color in the ever changing scene of spangles.

The Eskimos were soon lost in a profound sleep, the only comfort in their hard lives, but I remained awake, as had been my habit on succeeding days, to get detailed observations. The long gliding continued us at 04 degrees 3 minutes. At noon the sun's altitude was carefully set on the sextant, and the latitude quickly reduced gave 80 degrees 31 minutes—twenty-nine miles from the pole.

My heart jumped for joy, and the unconscious emotion which I was creating awakened Erukshuk. I told him that in a strange march we would reach the "light blue" the big nail. Awehah was awakened with a kick, and together they went out to a hummock and through glasses sought for a mark to locate so important a place as the terrestrial axis. If but one sleep beyond it must be seen.

I tried to explain that the pole was not visible to the eye; that its position was located only by a repeated use of the various instruments. This explanation satisfied the Eskimos, and they burst out in bursts of joy. For two hours they chanted and danced the passions of wild life.

It was the first real sign of pleasure or rational emotion which they had shown for several weeks. For some time I had entertained the fear that we no longer possessed the strength to return to land, but the unbridled flow of vigor dispelled that idea.

More sleep was quite impossible. We brewed an extra pot of tea, prepared a favorite broth of pemmican and a surprise of frozen biscuits and filled up on good things to the limit of the allowance for our final feast days. The dogs, which had joined the chorus of gladness, were given an extra lump of pemmican. A few hours more were agreeably spent in the tent, and then we started with a new spirit for the uttermost north.

We were excited to a fever heat. The tent was light on this run. Even the dogs caught the infectious enthusiasm and rushed along at a pace which made it difficult for me to keep a sufficient advance to set a good course. The Eskimos were still searched for something to mark the approaching horizon, but nothing unusual was seen. It was the same expanse of moving seas of ice on which we had lived for 500 miles.

But looking through gladdened eyes, the scene assumed a new glory. There were plains of gold fenced in purple walls, with glided crests. It was one of the few days on the stormy pack when all nature smiled with cheering lights.

As the day advanced and the splendor of summer night was run into the continued day the beams of gold on the surface snows thickened, while the shadows of hummocks, and ridges spread a line of violet barriers through which a way must be sought.

From my position a few hundred yards ahead of the sleds I could not resist the temptation to turn frequently to see the movement of the dog train with its new fire. In this direction the color scheme was reversed. The icy walls were in gold and burning colors, while the plains represented every shade of purple and blue.

Through this sea of color the dogs came with a spirited tread, noses down, tails up and shoulders braced to the straggles like chariot horses. The young Eskimos, chanting songs of love, came with easy step. The long whip was swung with a brisk crack, and all over there rose a cloud of frosted breath.

Camp was pitched early in the morning of April 20. The sun was north; the pack glowed in tones of lilac; the normal westerly air of shivers brushed our frosty faces. The surprising burst of enthusiasm, had been nursed to its limit, and under it a long march was made over average ice with the usual result of overbearing fatigue. Too tired and sleepy to wait for a cup of tea, melted snows were poured down, and the pemmican was pounded with the ax to ease the task of the jaws. The eyes closed before the tent was finished, and the world was lost to us for eight hours. The observation gave latitude 80 degrees 45 minutes, longitude 04 degrees 52 minutes.

With the boys singing and the dogs howling we started off after midnight on April 21. The dogs looked large and noble as they came along that day, while Erukshuk and Awehah, though thin and ragged, had a dignity as heroes of the greatest human battle, which had ever been fought with remarkable success.

We were all lifted to the paradise of whiteness as we stepped over the snow of a destiny for which we had risked life and willingly suffered the tortures of an icy hell.

The ice under us seemed almost sacred. When the odometer registered fourteen and a half miles we camped and calmly went to sleep, feeling that we were turning on the earth's axis.

The observations, however, gave 89 degrees 50 minutes 45 seconds. We therefore had the pole, or the exact spot where it should be, within sight.

We advanced the fifteen seconds, made supplementary observations, pitched the tent, built a snow igloo and prepared to make ourselves comfortable for a stay long enough for two rounds of observations.

Our position was thus doubly assured, and a necessary day of rest was gained. Erukshuk and Awehah enjoyed the day in quiet repose, but I slept very little. My goal was reached: the ambition of my life had been fulfilled. How could I sleep away such overwhelming moments of elation?

At last we had reached the boreal center. The dream of nations had been realized. The race of centuries was ours. The flag was planted to the rosy pole. The year was 1908, the day April 21.

The sun indented local noon, but there was a negative problem, for here all meridians meet. With a step it was possible to go from one part of the globe to the opposite side—from the hour of midnight to that of midday. Here there are but one day and one night in each year. The latitude was 90 degrees, the temperature —38.7, the atmospheric pressure 20.83. North, east and west had vanished. It was but a question of time, but the compass pointing to the magnetic pole, was as useful as ever.

Though overjoyed with the success of the conquest our spirits began to change on the next day after all the observations had been taken and the local conditions were studied. A sense of intense loneliness came with a careful scrutiny of the horizon. What a cheerless spot to have around the ambition of man for so many ages! Endless fields of purple snows! No life, no land, no spot, to relieve the monotony of frost! We were the only pulsating creatures in a dead world of ice.

On April 23, 1909, Dr. Cook began the long return march. With fair weather, good ice and the inspiration of the home run long distances were at first quickly covered.

With a good deal of anxiety Cook watched the daily reduction of the food supply. It now became evident that the crucial stage of the campaign was to be transferred from the taking of the pole to a final battle for life against famine and frost. Early in July farther southward progress became impossible, and in quest of food he crossed the Firth of Devon into Jones sound. On Feb. 18, 1909, the start was made for Annotok. With a newly prepared equipment the Greenland shores were reached on April 13. Here Dr. Cook was greeted by Harry Whitney and anxious Eskimo friends. To facilitate an early return he moved southward to the Danish settlement and reached Upernivik on May 24, 1902. The Danish ship Hans Egede took him from Upernivik to Denmark.

"Well, he's got a few drinks in," he confessed at last. "But there hasn't been much trouble up to date."

"He's pretty ugly, ain't he?" asked the girl.

O'Leary laughed grimly. "You know what your dad is when he's drunk, Lucy. Let's tried to pick one or two scraps tonight, but the men are keeping away from him. I'll do my best to keep down trouble, you know that, Lucy."

"Yes, I know, Joe, you're mighty good," she said, "but if anything happens tonight you know he'll lose his job sure. I'm awful afraid, and mother's worse than I am, so I just came over to get you to look out for him. Is he doing his work all right?"

O'Leary shook his head regretfully. "That's what bothers me," he confessed. "The Sommers has been in the office long now. If it don't come out of the furnace soon the gun'll be no good at all."

The girl made a hopeless gesture. "What do you think of that?" she complained. "And he's the best man over here when he's sober. Can't you do anything, Joe?"

"I am doing all I can," he urged, as though in justification, "but if that gun's put in the oil bath after being too long in the fire the tempering will be bad."

Lucy wrung her hands despairingly. "Let's get Mr. Marsh," she begged. "Mr. Pinckney ain't here, but Mr. Marsh can take day off the job and keep him from running everything. Sommers is such a nice man, too, and Miss Frances likes him. Oh, what are we going to do, Joe?"

O'Leary looked at her, blankly. The situation was too much for him to manage.

"Marsh's not funny, too," he complained. "He must say how Smith is, but he keeps away and don't say nothing to him. Guess he's afraid."

"Maybe I could go in and beg him. Couldn't I do that, Joe?" pleaded the girl.

She turned and stepped for the door which led into the works, but before she could reach it the door was pushed open and Smith, under and more engaged than ever, rushed into the office. At sight of O'Leary and O'Leary together he straightened up, caught hold of the door a moment for support, then burst on them with a torrent of anger.

"What are you doing here?" he roared. "Why did you come in this office, Lucy? What business you got here. O'Leary! Why I see you got here, and you ain't got no business without getting that gun in the office!"

"I've got your dinner, father. I brought it over to you," faltered Lucy. "And why didn't you bring it to me right?" he shouted. "And why do you let this fellow in the office here he talking to you?"

"Joe's all right, father," the girl urged. "He don't want you to make no mistake with the Sommers gun, that's all."

The drunken foreman turned on his assistant with fury. "Oh, you don't, do you? Look here, you keep that gun of yours out of my affairs or I'll break it. Do you hear?"

But Joe O'Leary did not come of the race that could be bluffed. As Smith turned toward him, the assistant straightened up in a position of defense, waiting for him.

"Don't waste your breath trying to scare me, Smith," he shouted. "You'd better be getting that gun out of the fire before it spoils."

The sudden opposition sobered the drunken man for a moment. "I got a gun assistant, ain't it?" he sneered. "Trying to tell me my business. I know what you're up to. You sneaked in here to talk to her; that's what you did. Now, you keep away from her after this, I tell you. Don't you come near her or I'll break you in two."

O'Leary looked the larger man up and down with due Irish scorn. "Break me in two?" he sneered. "If you was to break me in two either place of mine would get up and knock your block off. I tell you, if you ever lay a hand on me I'll kill you."

In a wild fury Smith rushed once steadily. O'Leary landed once, staggering the big man, and then Lucy rushed in between them.

"Father! Joe! Don't!" she begged. "You'll both be disgraced!"

The jarring, staggered blow had knocked a little of the fight out of the bully. He still had sense enough to know that in an even battle his young, strong assistant would give a good chance, and, like most bullies, he didn't care for even that. The plea of Lucy gave him a chance to change the direction of his rage.

"Discharged!" he yelled. "Who'll discharge me? I can't run out the whole works, and I—"

He was hurrying about the office, swinging his arms wildly in time to his drunken threats, when the street door opened and Pinckney came in hastily. In a moment the manager saw that something was wrong.

"What's the meaning of this?" he demanded sharply, stepping forward. "Again the current of Smith's rage has found an object to dash against. All sense of discipline and fear of consequences was gone from him. Then, besides, down in his heart he knew that Pinckney needed him and would scarcely dare to discharge him at this time. Instead of replying he hurried himself over until he stood face to face with the general manager.

"Do you think I'm afraid of you?" he demanded drunkenly. Pinckney paid no attention to him, but turned and pressed the bell. When he spoke it was to the assistant.

"What are you doing here, O'Leary?" "Nothing, sir."

"Then get to work," ordered Pinckney sharply. "O'Leary hesitated. "I can't leave Lucy with him," he said, jerking his head toward Smith. Pinckney nodded.

"All right, I'm going," he said. He reached the door, then turned and spoke threateningly to the drunken foreman. "See here, Smith, if you touch that girl I'll kill you, and don't you forget it!"

Before Lucy's father could reply he turned and slammed the door after him.

Prepare For Cold Weather

Winter is fast approaching. One of the most important parts of a man's or woman's winter clothing is Underwear, and the best place to buy it that we know of is at Union Supply Company stores. The Fall lines of Underwear for men, women and children are now all in. They have been purchased from the best manufacturers in America. The stocks of this class of goods taken out of our sixty-three stores and put in one pile would look almost as big as Pine Knob, would make a big double-header train. Buying it in such large quantities and paying cash for it naturally gives us a great advantage as to price. Our customers get the benefit of all this. We are selling Underwear in our stores cheaper and have a greater variety, we believe, than you can find elsewhere.

Smith didn't want me around. Find Sommers, Lucy—you must find Sommers."

The girl looked about her blankly. How was she going to find Sommers? And, then, she didn't really care whether she found him or not. Sommers, the gun, everything was secondary to her now, with Joe O'Leary here, maybe dying. But O'Leary had commanded her, and the habit of obedience was strong.

"Where is Sommers, Joe?" she asked. "I don't want to leave you this way. I can't find Sommers."

But the practical assistant foreman, injured though he was, knew what to do.

"There it is. Phone Sommers. Try the Durans. Maybe he's there. Harry! That's the private one to the house. Tell Sommers to come at once."

Reassured now that she did not have to leave him to do his bidding, the girl ran to the private phone. She rang the bell wildly, half crying into the receiver.

"Hello! Is Mr. Sommers there?" and then her face went blank. "He ain't?" she gasped, then turned from the phone to cry to O'Leary. "Oh, Joe, he ain't there!"

Nearly an Even Break So Far In World's Baseball Series.

With half the world's series games over, for it is hardly likely more than six games will be played, Pittsburgh has as yet failed to show that it possesses more class than the Detroit Tigers, who have made them go the limit to win.

It is true that the Tigers have proved themselves inferior batters, making more errors than Clarke's men, but the Pirates have made a miscue or two. Schmidt and Abstein have both been the worst fielders of the series, each having three errors chalked against them. Two of Schmidt's errors were on wild heaves to the bases, a lamentable weakness of his. Abstein's miscues have been plain, everyday muffs of thrown balls.

With the reputation of having the heaviest hitting team in the National League, the Pirates have not displayed remarkable hitting ability so far in the series. Those who claim the National League pitching is so far superior to that of the American will have to show the American League fans.

Pittsburgh, it is true has no Mathewson or Minor Brown, but its pitchers did great work during the regular season and are entitled to an equal share of credit with the batters.

Detroit has lived up to its reputation for slugging. The team has hit .245 in the first three games against .216 for the Pirates.

If Ty Cobb wants to get in Wagner's class he will have to go some. Conditions have been against Cobb. Forbes Field is not the best playing ground in the league for bunters, while the only game played so far in Detroit was on a soggy diamond. The result is that Cobb has been hitting them out instead of laying them down. Wagner has batted .500 in the series so far, his wonderful work yesterday bringing his figures way up. He is being given a close run by both Delehanly and Bush. Wagner and Leach are the only Pirates batting better than .300.

Their batting compared, position for position, shows Abstein a better than Tom Jones. Delehanly is way ahead of Jack Miller. Wagner has a shade on Owen Bush, but not enough to place him beyond danger of being overhauled; Moriarity has a better average over Byrne. In the outfield D. Jones shows Clarke up but Leach is just as far ahead of Sam Crawford. All the difference between Owen Wilson and Ty Cobb isn't worth mentioning.

George Gibson, with his reputation for a heavy batter, has made a lone-by two base hit against a double and single by Schmidt. The averages follow:

noted with some of Works' curves in the ninth for two runs. With the score 5 to 4 against it, the Detroit team even then did not realize it was beaten and smashed out two more runs in the last inning. Had Sam Crawford been able to hit up to his usual mark there would have been a different story to tell. Detroit out-batted Pittsburgh by a margin of one hit, getting twelve to the winners' eleven.

Summers started for the locals but was removed before the end of the first inning. Willett succeeded him and did well until he was taken out to allow McIntyre to bat for him in the seventh. McIntyre struck out Works succeeded Willett.

Maddox was on the rubber for Pittsburgh and was hit hard in the closing innings, although Detroit could do nothing with him in the early sessions. When the American League did start to hit him they landed hard and often, but Manager Clarke left Maddox in because of the lead his team had.

Hans Wagner the Bright Star
The mighty Hans Wagner was the star of the game, but he was forced to share some of the stellar honors with Owen Bush and Delehanly of the locals. Wagner made four hits and stole four bases, although Catcher Schmidt was not to blame for at least one of the thefts. Besides his hitting and base running Wagner played an admirable game in the field. In the first inning Wagner beat out a hit to Bush, stole second and went to third on Schmidt's lead throw to second. He then secured on a wild pitch in the second he reached first on a fielder's choice and on a double steal went to third while Leach was stealing home. In the fifth he singled just out of Tom Jones' reach and stole second. Wagner singled to left in the seventh, but was caught trying to steal second, Schmidt to Bush. In the ninth he again singled and stole second while Leach was on third waiting to score. Schmidt did not throw to catch Wagner this time, however, until he had ascertained that Leach would not try to score.

While Crawford stayed in the field his work at the bat was feeble and he missed two excellent chances to swing the tide of victory toward his team. He ended the rally in the seventh inning by a puny pop fly to Abstein with two men on bases. In the ninth he again had a chance with Cobb on second, but his best was a feeble bouncer to Wagner. Cobb made a two-bagger and a single that were important factors in the Detroit rally.

Following is the official attendance and receipts for the game: Total attendance, 18,277; total receipts, $20,678. Division National commission, $2,067.80; players $11,165.04; two clubs, $7,443.86. The score:

low hanging, dark clouds made the atmosphere so dark during the last two innings that it was hard for both players and spectators to follow the ball. Despite the wretched weather the attendance, 18,277, broke all local records for the world's series.

Pittsburgh jumped into the lead immediately by scoring five runs in the first inning. They batted Summers out of the box, added by some poor fielding. Another run in the second inning gave Pittsburgh a lead of 6 to 0 and the game then appeared to be safe for the visitors. Detroit, however, came to the fore with one of the greatest rallies ever made and scored four runs in the seventh inning, battling Maddox hard and playing like birds.
